

Francisco Franco Said Near Death; Power Change Set

MADRID, Spain (AP) — Generalissimo Francisco Franco rallied again during the night, his doctors reported today, but a government spokesman announced he was still in critical condition.

Spain awaited a new era as the life of its 82-year-old leader and his 36-year dictatorship neared their end.

After heart attacks and subsequent periods of improvement, the 13-man medical team attending Western Europe's last surviving dictator announced late Sunday night that his heart was experiencing "important rhythmic upsets with marked accentuation of the congestive cardiac insufficiency" from which he had been suffering for two days.

The announcement said he had been given a blood transfusion because of a gastric hemorrhage, and sources close to the medical team said the doctors had massaged the heart. The government radio service canceled its regular schedule and played classical music, awaiting the announcement of Franco's death.

Instead the doctors announced at 7 a.m. that their patient had a peaceful night and his condition had improved once more.

"He has reduced almost totally, with the treatment, gastric hemorrhaging and the upsets of cardiac rhythm, improving his cardiocirculation and maintaining a level of consciousness," the medical bulletin said.

Silent crowds of newsmen, photographers and curious Spaniards came to Franco's Pardo Palace 10 miles north of Madrid Sunday, stayed a while in front of the palace gates and then drifted away.

It was a day of alerts for Premier Carlos Arias Navarro, the three members of the Regency Council and 37-year-old Prince Juan Carlos de Borbon, the man picked by Franco to succeed him as chief of state and become Spain's first king in 44 years.

Under the constitution written by Franco, the Regency Council will exercise the powers of the chief of state from the death of the dictator until Juan Carlos is sworn in, probably in a week.

The three members of the council are Msgr. Pedro Cantero Cuadrado, the archbishop of Zaragoza; Alejandro Rodriguez Valcarcel, the president of the Cortes or Spanish parliament, and Lt. Gen. Angel Salas Larrazabal of the air force, the oldest serving general in the armed forces.

Arias Navarro, the council members and other leading members of the government made repeated visits to El Pardo on Sunday.

Juan Carlos, on whom rests much of liberal Spaniards' hopes for an orderly and peaceful transition toward democracy, and his wife, Princess Sophie, visited the palace Sunday night. They were just leaving when the doctors issued their bulletin, and the prince went back in for further talks with the officials inside.

It is widely believed that Juan Carlos and Arias Navarro both want to bring democracy back to Spain.

Bombs Shake Chicago, New York, Washington

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A dozen bombs were set off at business and government buildings in New York, Washington and Chicago early today. A Puerto Rican separatist group claimed responsibility for the bombings, which occurred a year and a day after five similar blasts the group was blamed for.

The bombs went off almost simultaneously in the three cities at about 2 a.m. EST and caused only minor damage and no injuries. One of the blasts damaged first and second-story windows at Chicago's Sears Tower, the world's tallest building.

The group's communique also said it had planted bombs in Puerto Rico, but there were no immediate reports of explosions there.

In Chicago, a man called a newspaper after the explosions and said two more bombs were set to go off "in honor of the veterans." Police found an unexploded bomb consisting of five sticks of dynamite in a bouquet of roses at the Standard Oil Building. They were checking a suspicious box found in the Federal Reserve Bank.

In New York, Danny Mizeesko, 19, a security guard at a West Side branch of the First National City Bank, heard one of the explosions and ran outside. He was standing 30 feet away when a bomb exploded in front of his own building.

Shortly after the first blasts, a woman called The Associated Press in New York to say that the FALN was responsible for the blasts. FALN stands in Spanish for the Armed Forces for National Liberation, which seeks independence for Puerto Rico, a U.S. commonwealth.

The FALN had been blamed earlier for at least 10 bombings in the New York area, including one at historic Fraunces Tavern in Manhattan last January that killed four persons and injured 44 others.

A note found by the New York Post in a phone booth said the bombings were the FALN's way of commemorating what it said was the 25th anniversary of revolution in Puerto Rico. The note said in part:

"Today armed units of the FALN commemorate the 25th anniversary of the October 30, 1950, revolution in Puerto Rico against yanki domination, and marks the first anniversary as an organization, by launching a simultaneously coordinated attack against yanki government and monopoly capitalistic institutions in New York, Washington, D.C., Chicago and Puerto Rico.

The note also demanded "the immediate independence of Puerto Rico and the unconditional release" of Oscar Collazo, convicted of trying to assassinate President Truman in 1950, and four other persons convicted of wounding five congressmen with gunfire in the House in 1954 while shouting "Freedom for Puerto Rico."

The 25th anniversary apparently referred to Collazo's attempt on Truman's life.

Five bombs exploded in New York City, with the U.S. Mission to the United Nations and four banks the targets. Two of the banks were in midtown Manhattan and the other two in the Wall Street area.

In Washington, the State Department building suffered minor damage from what a security force spokesman said appeared to be four separate bombs. It was the second bombing at the department this year.

The bombs in Chicago exploded at the Sears Tower, the Continental Bank and the IBM building.

Claim 'Sweet Tooth' Can Ruin Health

CHICAGO (AP) — Feeding your sweet tooth may ruin your body as well as your teeth, three nutrition authorities said Sunday.

Dr. Frederic W. Nordsiek of New York said that sugar provides nothing to human nutrition but calories, and he and the others who presented papers at the annual meeting of the American Dental Association said that sugar can be a health hazard.

Nordsiek, recently retired adjunct professor of public health nutrition at Columbia University and vice president of Sloan-Kettering Institute, said the average American consumes more than two pounds of sugar a week. Two-thirds of that amount is hidden in commercially processed and prepared foods such as jellies, fruits, cakes, candies and beverages, he said.

Around 1830, the average American consumed 15 pounds of sugar a year, compared to more than 100 pounds today, said Nordsiek, adding that even now people in some parts of the world eat no sugar.

Dr. Richard August Ahrens, a nutritionist at the University of Maryland, College Park, reported that high levels of sugar consumption have been shown to raise the blood pressure of both experimental animals and humans.

He said, "High blood pressure affects all of the organs of the body that have to work against it." It is, he added, a major cause of heart disease, stroke, diabetes and kidney disease.

Dr. James H. Dunning of Arlington, Va., a retired Harvard University dental professor, said that between-meal snacks are a major contributor to tooth decay because they usually are sweet. Not only that, he said, but often they are in a form such as candy, which sticks to the teeth.

In view of high sugar consumption, Dunning recommended health measures such as fluoridation of the water supply for the half of the U.S. population not yet receiving it, elimination of sweetened between-meal snacks, the application of fluoride to the surface of children's teeth by dental personnel at school.

Turks Buy Helicopters From Russia

WASHINGTON (AP) — Turkey reportedly is buying 60 helicopters from Russia but has turned down a Soviet offer to furnish MIG 21 and MIG 23 jet fighters for the Turkish air force.

The purchase of military helicopters from Russia could mark a significant turn in Turkish policy, even though the Turks are said by U.S. intelligence to have decided against buying Soviet jets at least for now.

For nearly 30 years, the Turkish armed forces have been equipped almost wholly by the United States. The only known Russian items in the Turkish military inventory are a few trucks acquired three years ago.

Intelligence reports of the Turkish purchase of turbine-powered M18 helicopters from Russia became known as U.S. and Turkish diplomats prepared to open discussions Tuesday in Ankara on the future of U.S. bases in Turkey.

Congress recently relaxed the embargo on U.S. arms deliveries to Turkey and the United States has since sent the Turks 20 F4 Phantom jet fighters ordered before the embargo went into effect last winter.

However, Turkish officials have indicated they feel the embargo should be cancelled entirely before they would be willing to return to U.S. control the 25 bases that Turkey took over last July.

from Ohio St. to Mound St. on Tuesdays, from Mound St. to Hargus Creek on Wednesdays, and from Hargus Creek to the north corporation line on Thursdays. Fridays will be used in the event of rain. Leaves must be raked to the street, or to the area between the street and sidewalk in congested areas.

Americans Urged To Leave As Beirut Fighting Worsens

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — The U.S. Embassy today advised all American women and children and all American men whose business is not essential to leave Beirut as the city's Moslem-Christian war invaded a previously peaceful foreign residential district.

An Embassy spokesman said the advice was "informal," and an evacuation had not been ordered. He said embassy dependents and nonessential personnel are being sent out of the country.

About 3,500 Americans are still in the former financial capital of the Middle East. About the same number have left the city because of the fighting which has paralyzed business life.

Rockets exploded and machine-gun bursts ripped through the alleys and streets of the downtown Qantari district as leftist Lebanese Moslems and radical Palestinian guerrillas duelled with militiamen of the conservative Christian Phalange party.

The police reported 52 persons killed Sunday night and this morning, including 29 in Qantari.

At least two fires were started, but the gunmen drove the fire brigades and ambulances back and wounded 10 firemen.

"If you must fight, go ahead until you kill each other," announcer Sherif Akhawi shouted over the government radio. "But be human as in other nations. Don't shoot at firemen, ambulances and newsmen."

Moslem gunmen wounded Chicago Tribune correspondent Phil Caputo in both feet Sunday night. He spent an uncomfortable night in a hospital in Qantari with the street war exploding outside his window.

Three bullets penetrated the Associated Press office during the night, but no one was hurt.

Moslem militiamen broke into the apartment of Washington Post newsman Jonathan Randal and kidnapped him. He was released after he got them to telephone Algerian

The latest estimate for 1976 spending of about $370 billion probably would increase the difference to around 14 per cent. OMB has not worked out the 1969-value of proposed spending for fiscal 1977.

If fiscal 1977 spending is held to $395 billion, as Ford wants, the increase from 1976 in today's dollars would be $25 billion, or nearly 7 per cent.

Ambassador Mohammed Yazid, who told them he was a legitimate journalist.

Premier Rashid Karami announced a new cease-fire agreement, but it was no more effective than the dozens of others in the seven-month-old war.

Fighting was also reported in several suburbs.

Moslem snipers took up positions in the upper floors of an unfinished 40-story building and rained bullets down on Christian militiamen. The Christians returned the fire with rifles and machine guns but were unable to dislodge the sharpshooters.

All streets in the city were reported unsafe. Army troops kept the road to the airport open, the government radio said, but it was the only visible intervention by the 18,000-man army.

Raw Steel Demand Up

CLEVELAND (AP) — The revived automotive and appliance industries, with the machinery market showing a faster turnaround than had been expected, is responsible for the increasing demand in raw steel shipments, Industry Week said today.

But the depressed level of steel activity has hurt earnings. Armco Steel Corp. of Middletown said it barely broke even in the third quarter due to slow business and surging costs.

"We have faith in the longrange strength of our steel business," Armco Chairman William Verity said. "But short-sighted governmental meddling with pricing policies and inaction on an energy policy have so muddled the shortrange outlook that prudent management dictates a moratorium on any new expansion in steelmaking capacity."

Income Rises, Buying Power Dips

WASHINGTON (AP) — A bitter lesson of the mid-1970s has been that rising income and spending don't mean rising prosperity for either American families or the federal government.

The average American worker lost nearly 9.4 per cent of the buying power of his or her paycheck between 1972 and April of this year, even though dollar earnings increased nearly 18 per cent during the same period, Labor Department figures show.

The gross weekly earnings of workers increased from $136.16 in 1972 to $160.47 last April. But measured in terms of what earnings will buy — in 1969-value dollars — the paycheck declined from $96.64 in 1972 to $87.58 in April. The April figures don't reflect the increase in buying power since the May tax cut.

Because of inflation, it takes more dollars to buy the same amount of goods and services. To maintain the same level of services, the government must spend more each year, just as a family must spend more to maintain its living standards.

President Ford recently called attention to the federal dilemma when he said on Oct. 6 that unless Congress agrees to reduce spending by $28 billion, the fiscal 1977 budget will hit $420 billion, which is up more than 100 per cent compared to $197 billion in 1970.

Measured in dollar amounts alone, that would be true. But in terms of what dollars will buy, the increase would be a great deal less.

Figures provided by the Office of Management and Budget show that if all budgets are translated into the same purchasing power, the increase between 1970 and 1976 was closer to 14 per cent.

OMB figures show that if all budgets are measured in terms of 1969-value dollars, the original fiscal 1976 budget of $350 billion becomes $202.7 billion, compared to $180.8 billion for 1970, a difference of 12 per cent.

Soviet Crop Shortfall Reported

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Soviet Union's sunflower seed crop has been hit hard by drought this year and could fall 18.6 per cent below 1974 output, a factor in determining potential U.S. soybean sales to Russia, an Agriculture Department expert said today.

George E. Wanamaker of the department's Foreign Agricultural Service said that, if indicated lower yields materialize as they appear, total Soviet seed output would range between 5.5 million and 6.0 million metric tons. There are 2,205 pounds in a metric ton.

The Russian sunflower seed harvest in 1974, a prime source of vegetable oil and high-protein meal, was 6.76 million tons, down from a record of almost 7.4 million in 1973.

Wanamaker's report, published in a weekly issue of "Foreign Agriculture" by his agency, was based on findings of a U.S. team that visited the Soviet Union last month.

"With the crop at this reduced level, the Soviets apparently will need to import soybeans, largely to fill the gap in edible oil needs and maintain protein cake and meal supplies (for livestock)," Wanamaker said.

According to other USDA officials, Russia has not bought U.S. soybeans for about three years but may be showing renewed interest because of the sunflower-seed shortfall.

The Soviets reportedly have purchased 1.5 million tons of soybeans from Brazil, and some officials think they might buy at least 500,000 tons of U.S. beans during the 1975-76 season.

According to Wanamaker, Russia has the crushing mill capacity to handle only about 500,000 tons of soybeans a year when sunflower-seed output is normal. Thus, the only time soybeans in excess of that amount can be imported is when there is a shortfall in domestic oilseed production.

Congress Faces Heavy Schedule

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress faces more work this week on tax cuts, energy plans and ways to help financially troubled New York City.

The House Ways and Means Committee is turning to various business tax-cutting proposals to go along with its plan for extending some 1975 personal income tax reductions into 1976.

The panel last week approved a personal tax-cut plan that totals $12.7 billion compared to 1974 taxes and which is $2.6 billion more than the 1975 tax cut.

Meantime, Senate-House negotiators could complete a congressional compromise energy bill this week. However, there is a good chance it will be vetoed by President Ford because the measure most likely will contain some features for cutting oil prices.

Ford wants higher fuel prices as a way of cutting consumption and giving U.S. energy producers more incentive to boost supplies. The energy bill being readied by Senate-House conferees for later votes by the two chambers would be a congressional substitute for Ford's plan.

In the New York City financial crisis, some Senate Banking Committee members are searching for alternatives to help the city continue essential services without the federal government providing $6 billion loan guarantees to the city. Without federal help, city officials say there is no way the city can avert default.

Loan-guarantee legislation could run into trouble on the Senate floor if Sen. James B. Allen, D-Ala., carries through his threat to filibuster against it.

In other expected congressional action, the House may vote on a bill to boost the temporary federal debt ceiling by $20 billion to a record $597 billion through next March 31. This boost was recommended by the Ways and Means Committee.

The current $577 billion temporary top on Treasury borrowing is due to expire Nov. 15 when the legal ceiling would drop to its permanent $400 billion level.

Nov. 15 also is the date on which all oil-price controls are due to expire. Energy bill conferees hope to get their compromise to the President before that date and there was speculation there might be an attempt to tie the two measures together to discourage Ford from vetoing the energy package.

Senate-House energy negotiators still face action on a proposal to prohibit use of gasoline diesel fuel to bus or transport pupils beyond the school closest to their homes.

Also remaining is the oilprice dispute. While Ford has backed down from his original demand for an immediate end to all federal controls on oil prices, he still favors a gradual phase-out of controls.

The separate House and Senate bills contain features which would keep controls permanently and would reduce crude oil prices from current record high levels.

Elsewhere in Congress, the House intelligence committee is to hear Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger before deciding whether to enforce a subpoena against him.

Mercer Still In Coma

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Songwriter Johnny Mercer remained in a coma at Huntington Memorial Hospital here after undergoing brain surgery last week. A spokesman said Sunday that the 66-year-old Mercer was "slightly improved but still in precarious condition."

A tumor was removed from Mercer's brain Thursday, but there was no indication whether it was malignant. Mercer's compositions include "Laura" and "The Atcheson, Topeka and the Santa Fe."

Thieves Enter Service Station

Thieves burglarized the Laurel Sohio Service in Laurelsville taking $786.28 worth of auto accessories.

Roger Overman, owner of the station, told Deputy James Fite, that the thieves knocked a hole in the cement block to gain entry, apparently sometime between 7 p.m. Saturday and 7 a.m. today.

Items missing from the station included tires, batteries, tools and spark plugs.

Britain's Deficit Blamed On Oil

LONDON (AP) — Trade Minister Peter Shore says Britain would have a healthy surplus in its foreign trade account if it did not have to import oil.

"Our non-oil deficit has certainly been overcome," said Shore, whose job is to bring about an export boom. "And I expect to reduce the oil deficit too by virtue of our own production next year."

In an interview with The Associated Press, Shore said he expects 105 million barrels of North Sea oil, or 15 per cent of the nation's present yearly needs, to be landed in 1976.

Officials in the Department of Energy think the inflow could reach 140 million barrels. Thus $1.2 billion to $1.6 billion could be knocked off Britain's total fuel import bill, which this year is likely to be about $5 billion.

The government has predicted self-sufficiency in oil by 1980 with a production of 700 million to 910 million barrels a year.

Yet Shore expressed caution as he suggested Britain might at last be emerging from the economic doldrums of the postwar years.

"There's been a big improvement this year with the over-all trade deficit running at about 40 per cent less than in 1974," he said. "But we still have a long way to go because the oil deficit in itself is a very, very large one."

In the first nine months of 1975, Britain earned about $2 billion more than she spent abroad in non-oil trade including the sale of such "invisible" services as banking, insurance, shipping and the like. The comparable 1974 figure was a bare surplus of $190 million.

In the first nine months of 1975, British oil imports totaled $4.4 billion, $700 million less than in the same period in 1974. The volume of purchasing declined because of higher prices, but the oil bill for all of 1975 will be reduced by production of 14 million barrels from the North Sea fields.

"Our exports have held up very well against a background of the general recession in world trade," said Shore.

"Sharp reversals (in Britain's trade balance) during the summer were very substantially the result of heavy investment in the North Sea, pushing those great platforms into place."

Two platforms installed during July and August added about $370 million to the import bill.

North Sea oil is already coming ashore, but Queen Elizabeth II is scheduled to make a ceremonial turning on of the valves on Nov. 3.

Economists Rap Rhodes Proposals

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Claims that Republican Gov. James Rhodes' four ballot issues would create a substantial number of new jobs in Ohio have been disputed by eight economists.

The college professors said Saturday the four-point economic package to be voted on by Ohioans Nov. 4 probably would do the state's economy more harm than good.

They questioned the favorable economic impact of the massive capital improvements program and tax incentives to industry offered in the package.

The economists met at Ohio State University to discuss the proposals at the invitation of Democratic Lt. Gov. Richard F. Celeste.

Dr. James J. Doyle of John Carroll University said many Southern states have discovered that tax abatements will not work to attract new industries to an area.

"Many studies have shown that the influence of tax abatement subsidies on firms' locational decisions are extremely minor, while the effect on tax revenues is major," Doyle said.

Dr. David McCalmont of Ohio State

University said "only a trickle of the $4.5 billion deficit spending program would reach the economy in a year or two. Most will be spent in good economic times, thus worsening the effects on inflation."

But the corresponding immediate $200 million increase in annual taxes, he said, would retard the economic upswing.

John Sweeney of John Carroll University said the state would have less ability to finance state services than it has today if the amendments pass because the corporate taxes to be cut are progressive and high growth while new taxes to be imposed are regressive.

Also taking part in the discussion were Dr. John F. Burke Jr. of Cleveland State University, Dr. Meno Lowenstein of Ohio University, Dr. Frank J. Navratil of John Carroll University, Dr. Bruce E. Edwards of Bowling Green State University and Dr. Lars Sandburg of Ohio State University.

ACLU Chief Rips KSU Assessment

KENT, Ohio (AP)—Benson Wolman, executive director of the American Civil Liberties Union in Ohio, says families of students killed or wounded at Kent State University May 4, 1970 are outraged over efforts to make them pay legal costs of defendants in their recent damage suit.

Wolman characterized as "blood money" Sunday a request filed in U.S. District Court last week asking that the plaintiffs pay court costs totaling $72,306 to Gov. James Rhodes and the former Ohio National Guardsmen who were defendants in the damage suits.

Said Wolman, "The state licensed the guardsmen to kill and maim, has openly justified it in court and now seeks to have the survivors pay for the privilege of questioning the executioners' judgment."

In a speech at Kent State, Wolman said he has talked with many of the families involved and they are "outraged at this final act of insensitivity by the governor and guardsmen who have taken the lives of their children."

He said ACLU attorneys are appealing the jury verdict which cleared the governor and guardsmen of liability in the shootings and will oppose the request that the plaintiffs be assessed costs.

Four students were killed and nine were wounded when guardsmen opened fire on antiwar demonstrators on the Kent campus in 1970.

TIE-UP COMPLETE — Personnel of the City Water Department began excavation work Monday to extend the water main at Washington and Walnut Sts. to the base of the proposed 1 million gallon storage tank to be located on property near the Scioto Coca-Cola Bottling Co. Actual construction of the tank is expected to begin Nov. 15.

Soviet Crop Shortfall Reported

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Soviet Union's sunflower seed crop has been hit hard by drought this year and could fall 18.6 per cent below 1974 output, a factor in determining potential U.S. soybean sales to Russia, an Agriculture Department expert said today.

George E. Wanamaker of the department's Foreign Agricultural Service said that, if indicated lower yields materialize as they appear, total Soviet seed output would range between 5.5 million and 6.0 million metric tons. There are 2,205 pounds in a metric ton.

The Russian sunflower seed harvest in 1974, a prime source of vegetable oil and high-protein meal, was 6.76 million tons, down from a record of almost 7.4 million in 1973.

Wanamaker's report, published in a weekly issue of "Foreign Agriculture" by his agency, was based on findings of a U.S. team that visited the Soviet Union last month.

"With the crop at this reduced level, the Soviets apparently will need to import soybeans, largely to fill the gap in edible oil needs and maintain protein cake and meal supplies (for livestock)," Wanamaker said.

According to other USDA officials, Russia has not bought U.S. soybeans for about three years but may be showing renewed interest because of the sunflower-seed shortfall.

The Soviets reportedly have purchased 1.5 million tons of soybeans from Brazil, and some officials think they might buy at least 500,000 tons of U.S. beans during the 1975-76 season.

According to Wanamaker, Russia has the crushing mill capacity to handle only about 500,000 tons of soybeans a year when sunflower-seed output is normal. Thus, the only time soybeans in excess of that amount can be imported is when there is a shortfall in domestic oilseed production.

Sadat Seeks Economic, Military Aid

WASHINGTON (AP) — Egyptian President Anwar Sadat, the first Egyptian head of state to visit the United States, is here seeking U.S. military and economic aid.

Sadat, who arrived Sunday to begin his 11-day visit, spent the night at Williamsburg, Va., and was to meet President Ford and Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger at the White House today. A state dinner at the White House was scheduled for tonight for Sadat and his wife.

In his meetings with U.S. officials, Sadat also is expected to seek a promise that Israel will be pressured into giving up more land to the Arabs. He also reportedly wishes to encourage Congress to deny Israel ultramodern arms, such as the Pershing missile.

In a recorded television interview before he left Cairo, Sadat said he wishes to buy arms to replace weapons lost in the last Middle East war. He indicated he would go to other countries if the United States does not sell arms to Egypt.

Kissinger said recently he did not think "we will be prepared at this moment to make any specific commitments of military aid" to Egypt.

Sadat also stressed his desire for economic help. "Mainly, I want you to help me on the economic side, to have long-term loans because the difficulty in my economy is that we have short-term loans," Sadat said in an interview for ABC's "Issues and Answers."

The Ford administration already has decided to ask Congress for at least $500 million in economic aid, but Sadat is expected to ask for more.

During his interview, Sadat said it was a "great possibility" that Israel has nuclear weapons.

Asked if he thought nuclear weapons would be used in another Middle East war, Sadat said he would order their use only in retaliation.

On Soviet-Arab relations, Sadat said the Russians have a "hobby ... to try and make contradictions between the regimes in the Arab world."

Sadat has another meeting with Ford on Tuesday morning and then a State Department luncheon with Kissinger. He is scheduled to address the U.N. General Assembly in New York on Wednesday and travel to Chicago, Houston, a Texas farm and Jacksonville, Fla., before returning to Washington for an address to a joint session of Congress on Nov. 5.

Markets

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market pulled back again, today, beset by continuing uncertainty over the financial outlook for New York City.

The opening Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was off about a point, and losers outnumbered gainers by about a 6-5 margin in early activity on the New York Stock Exchange.

The market's attention appeared fixed on the continuing debate over whether New York City should get federal help in its efforts to avert a default on some debts that come due December 10.

And it all but ignored the continued spread of a quarterpoint cut in the bank prime lending rate to 7½ per cent. The drop was accompanied by predictions of further cuts later this week.

Today's early prices included Gulf Oil, unchanged at 22; RCA, down ¼ at 18¼; Gulf & Western Industries, unchanged at 19¼, and Chrysler, off ¼ at 11.

Hog prices, net, were paid by Producers Livestock Assn. today as follows:

50 cents lower, $55.75 - $56.25.

New Look At Coal

Taking the long-range view of energy sources, it seems obvious that the more exotic forms — nuclear, solar and geothermal — one day will supply most of man's needs. Getting from here to there demands some shortcuts.

Increasingly, coal is mentioned as one of the shortcuts with a largely unused potential. Much as a number of people seem to have an aversion to coal for several reasons, the fact remains coal is here now, and in an abundance which could last hundreds of years.

Among the most recent studies pointing to coal as the interim path to carry the world from petroleum into whatever the future brings, is one produced by a Dartmouth College research team. The study indicates that a strong commitment to coal now could find that source accounting for 80 per cent of the nation's energy needs within 25 years.

The nation would not have to become that dependent upon coal to achieve energy independence, but it is reassuring to know it could if it should be necessary.

Walter Winchell

By JIM BISHOP

He lies in a lonely sunny grave in Arizona. And yet the fury of Walter Winchell boils like an old geyser. He was short, dapper, given to snap-brim fedoras and words which tumbled like a rockslide.

I knew him. Worked for him part-time. A long time ago he said he had a contract to write his memoirs. Both of us doubted he would ever write them. He could tell the truth about others, but found it difficult to tell the truth about himself.

Surprisingly, Prentice-Hall has just published a book called "Winchell Exclusive, by Walter Winchell." The first of the gossip columnist left his memoirs to his lawyer, Ernest Cuneo. It is a readable manuscript of a man looking into a mirror.

This columnist had an amazing instinct for the kill. He more preferred to pillory than to praise. He liked to sit and recount the names of actors, actresses, press agents, chorus girls and officials who had double-crossed him and who had been ruined by an item in his column.

As a force in America, he peaked between 1935 and 1945. He left the arena of Broadway to take on the United States and the world. His friends were J. Edgar Hoover and F.D.R. His egomania led Winchell to believe that he could make or break statesmen.

In time the fury of his flames consumed him. Winchell lost his family, old friends, his audience. Once he was paid $15,000 for a 15-minute radio broadcast plus $1,000 a week for his syndicated column. Toward the end he begged editors to publish his scandal.

He and I did not speak for 25 years. I had written a biography called "The Mark Hellinger Story." It was a fair book, far from great. In it, I told the story of how Winchell jumped from a cheap, salacious paper, The Evening Graphic, to The Daily Mirror and big-time syndication.

He read it and fumed. I told him that if what I wrote was untrue, to sue me. He didn't.

Winchell and Hellinger, as disparate as a persimmon and a peach, were buddies. Walter told Mark that he felt he was about to be fired from his hundred-dollar a week job on the Graphic. He had to find a paper which would publish his column.

Hellinger, working on The New York News, said that Herbert Bayard Swope, editor of The Morning World, owed him a favor. Mark asked Swope to write a fake letter stating that he would like to hire Winchell at $500 a week.

This letter could be used to jimmy another editor to hire the Bad Boy of Broadway. Swope didn't want to write it. "Suppose," he said, "the little guy holds me to the letter? The World can't use him."

Hellinger swore such a note would not be used to blackmail Swope. The editor wrote the letter. Mark gave it to Walter, who took it to William Curley, editor of The New York Journal.

Curley was W. R. Hearst's top New York editor. Bill Curley read it, listened to the sales pitch, and hired Winchell at $500 a week. Curley sent Winchell to Albert J. Kobler, publisher of Hearst's Daily Mirror. There the three-dot dancer earned his keep — and more — on page 10.

Winchell was in green clover. He got $500 from The Mirror. Joseph Connolly, president of King Features Syndicate, sold the column to several hundred newspapers. Winchell earned an extra $500 a week.

It was all done with a fake letter. Everyone, including Winchell, was happy. And yet, in his memoirs, Winchell found it difficult to face the truth.

"Bill Curley," he wrote, "top editor of Mr. Hearst's New York

Antique Cars Set Ambitious Trip

CLEVELAND (AP)—A lot of people are going out of their way to celebrate the bicentennial but few so far as a band of antique car buffs led by James Jaworski.

He's the pilot of a 22,000-mile recreation of the Gilded Age's globe-girdling Paris-to-Peking race. And, as if driving around the world isn't challenge enough, entries are restricted to cars built by 1914.

"Basically the antique car people wanted to create an historic antique car event to celebrate the national bicentennial and to promote good will around the world," he said in a recent interview.

The original outing, sponsored by the Paris newspaper Le Matin and the New York Times, rolled away in 1907. A brand-new Thomas Flyer, an American entry, chugged across the finish line first. Jaworski and the Flyer's current keeper, Nevada casino owner and car collector Bill Harrah, are talking about entering it in the second running.

Already in the lists are a 1912 Alco from Cleveland, a 1912 Pierce Arrow from Ellenville, N.Y., a 1904 Pope Toledo from Detroit, a 1909 Buick from France and a 1912 Rolls Royce from Sydney.

Classic car owners from Uruguay, Rome, Belgium and Great Britain are negotiating with Jaworski over additional entries. He hopes to field 15 cars, each worth from $40,000 to $70,000 except, of course, the Rolls which would fetch up to $150,000, Jaworski said.

"We will start in Paris. We are going to run the race backwards so that it will finish in New York," Jaworski said. "In 1907 they went the other way. We will leave Paris on approximately May 28 and arrive in Times Square about July 25."

In between they'll tour Brussels, Bonn, Berlin, Warsaw, Moscow, Novosibirsk, Irkutsk, Siberia, Khabarovsk, Nakhodka, the inside of a Japanbound freighter, Tsgura, Tokyo, the interior of a 747 due to land in San Francisco on the Fourth of July, Reno, Cheyenne, Denver, St. Lake City, Omaha, Chicago, Detroit, Cleveland, Erie, Buffalo, Syracuse and Albany.

"We've done these long-distance tours and we can pretty much handle the situation," Jaworski said. "We understand that we'll have breakdowns and we expect it."

Where do you find a new piston ring for a Pope Toledo Khabarovsk?

"There will be two support vehicles that will follow the race," he said. "The first will have complete machine-shop facilities. The second will carry spare parts and reporters. "It will be a reliability tour, a sports-car type rally. Contestants will be judged not by speed but the precision with which they follow schedules and routes."

"We're talking about an average of 35 miles per hour, 150 to 300 miles per day," Jaworski said. "We are going to take some of the better roads. We are going to try to stay away, though, from the tractor-trailer traffic on the superhighways."

Today In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Monday, Oct. 27, the 300th day of 1975. There are 65 days left in the year. This is Veteran's Day.

Today's highlight in history:
On this date in 1806, French forces under Napoleon Bonaparte occupied Berlin.

On this date:
In 1858, the 28th U.S. president, Theodore Roosevelt, was born in New York City.

In 1912, the siege of the Turkish city of Adrianople began during the Balkan War.

In 1920, the League of Nations transferred its headquarters from London to Geneva.

In 1921, Germany agreed to accept Allied conditions on war reparations. In 1961, Mauritania and Mongolia were admitted to the United Nations.

Ten years ago: The United States proposed that the U.S. government and the Soviet Union reduce nuclear arms stocks by each destroying several thousand weapons.

Five years ago: Irish activist Bernadette Devlin returned to the British Parliament after being released from jail in Northern Ireland.

One year ago: U.S. Secretary of State Henry Kissinger was conferring with Indian leaders in New Delhi after three days of talks in Moscow with Soviet officials.

Today's birthdays: Actress Teresa Wright is 56. Actress Ruby Dee is 51.

Thought for today: It is hard for me to remember names; if I live long enough, I shall no doubt forget my own. — Montaigne, French writer, 1533-1592.

Bicentennial footnote: Two hundred years ago today, Quakers in Philadelphia appealed to the Pennsylvania Assembly for understanding, explaining that their religion did not permit them to take part in military activities.

"Now, I don't want you worrying about anything — that's what you'll be paying me a $2500 retainer to do for you."

Speaking Of Your Health

by Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

I'm engaged to a girl who is afraid that she can never have children because she has a heart murmur.

It seems that her mother has always treated her like a Dresden doll because she was born with this condition. I'm afraid that her fears will affect our future life.

Mr. B. D., Ohio

Many children who are born with unimportant so-called "functional" heart murmurs are unnecessarily kept in a state of overprotection.

Unless it has been proven that a particular heart murmur reflects an underlying serious heart condition, great effort must be made to eliminate all fears from early childhood on.

If, after complete and thorough medical examination, your fiancée is found to have a "functional," or unimportant, heart murmur, great effort must be made to undo the fears that have been imposed on her.

This is not a simple program. For, when anxiety of this sort is hammered into the psyche of a growing child and adolescent over a period of years, the impact is a fixed one.

You must, with the help of a doctor, a psychologist or a psychiatrist, eradicate her anxiety. Only then can you be certain that her obsessive ideas will be eliminated and you will both have a happier courtship and marriage.

Can gastritis be caused by drinking too much beer? I gave up hard liquor for this reason. I still get attacks of gastritis.

Mr. J. Y., N.C.

"Gastritis" means an inflammation, irritation and occasionally, an infection of the inner lining of the stomach.

All alcohol, especially in excessive amounts, can be the cause of such irritation. Spicy foods, tobacco and some drugs can also be responsible for gastritis.

Abdominal pain, heartburn and a sense of bloot can accompany beer drinking. Even though the alcoholic content of beer may be lower than that of hard liquor, it can still be the cause of your gastritis.

If you have found by past experience that beer produces these symptoms then the sensible thing to do is to reduce the amount and the frequency of your drinking.

SPEAKING OF YOUR HEALTH . . . Does anyone ever expect to fall asleep with a lighted cigarette in his hand? It happens often.

"We will start in Paris. We are going to run the race backwards so that it will finish in New York," Jaworski said. "In 1907 they went the other way. We will leave Paris on approximately May 28 and arrive in Times Square about July 25."

In between they'll tour Brussels, Bonn, Berlin, Warsaw, Moscow, Novosibirsk, Irkutsk, Siberia, Khabarovsk, Nakhodka, the inside of a Japanbound freighter, Tsgura, Tokyo,

Journal, was the one who hired me at five times the wages I got on the Graphic. Hired me, that is, two and a half years before my contract with that rag was up. He gave me a thousand-dollar 'gratuity' (he called it) just to sign the contract two and a half years before he could get me."

What contract? Those of us who know Winchell on The Graphic never heard of a reporter earning $100 a week who had a contract. The man who would fire him was Emile Gauvreau, editor of The Graphic.

Winchell's fear of Gauvreau was well founded. Two months after the columnist hit the big-time, Hearst hired Gauvreau as managing editor of The Mirror. Winchell sobbed . . .

"We've done these long-distance tours and we can pretty much handle the situation," Jaworski said. "We understand that we'll have breakdowns and we expect it."

Where do you find a new piston ring for a Pope Toledo Khabarovsk?

"There will be two support vehicles that will follow the race," he said. "The first will have complete machine-shop facilities. The second will carry spare parts and reporters. 'It will be a reliability tour, a sports-car type rally. Contestants will be judged not by speed but the precision with which they follow schedules and routes."

"We're talking about an average of 35 miles per hour, 150 to 300 miles per day," Jaworski said. "We are going to take some of the better roads. We are going to try to stay away, though, from the tractor-trailer traffic on the superhighways."

Today In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Monday, Oct. 27, the 300th day of 1975. There are 65 days left in the year. This is Veteran's Day.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1806, French forces under Napoleon Bonaparte occupied Berlin.

On this date: In 1858, the 28th U.S. president, Theodore Roosevelt, was born in New York City.

In 1912, the siege of the Turkish city of Adrianople began during the Balkan War.

In 1920, the League of Nations transferred its headquarters from London to Geneva.

In 1921, Germany agreed to accept Allied conditions on war reparations. In 1961, Mauritania and Mongolia were admitted to the United Nations.

Ten years ago: The United States proposed that the U.S. government and the Soviet Union reduce nuclear arms stocks by each destroying several thousand weapons.

Five years ago: Irish activist Bernadette Devlin returned to the British Parliament after being released from jail in Northern Ireland.

One year ago: U.S. Secretary of State Henry Kissinger was conferring with Indian leaders in New Delhi after three days of talks in Moscow with Soviet officials.

Today's birthdays: Actress Teresa Wright is 56. Actress Ruby Dee is 51.

Thought for today: It is hard for me to remember names; if I live long enough, I shall no doubt forget my own. — Montaigne, French writer, 1533-1592.

Bicentennial footnote: Two hundred years ago today, Quakers in Philadelphia appealed to the Pennsylvania Assembly for understanding, explaining that their religion did not permit them to take part in military activities.

"Now, I don't want you worrying about anything — that's what you'll be paying me a $2500 retainer to do for you."

Speaking Of Your Health

by Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

I'm engaged to a girl who is afraid that she can never have children because she has a heart murmur.

It seems that her mother has always treated her like a Dresden doll because she was born with this condition. I'm afraid that her fears will affect our future life.

Mr. B. D., Ohio

Dear Mr. D.:

Many children who are born with unimportant so-called "functional" heart murmurs are unnecessarily kept in a state of overprotection.

Unless it has been proven that a particular heart murmur reflects an underlying serious heart condition, great effort must be made to eliminate all fears from early childhood on.

If, after complete and thorough medical examination, your fiancée is found to have a "functional," or unimportant, heart murmur, great effort must be made to undo the fears that have been imposed on her.

This is not a simple program. For, when anxiety of this sort is hammered into the psyche of a growing child and adolescent over a period of years, the impact is a fixed one.

You must, with the help of a doctor, a psychologist or a psychiatrist, eradicate her anxiety. Only then can you be certain that her obsessive ideas will be eliminated and you will both have a happier courtship and marriage.

Can gastritis be caused by drinking too much beer? I gave up hard liquor for this reason. I still get attacks of gastritis.

Mr. J. Y., N.C.

Dear Mr. Y.:

"Gastritis" means an inflammation, irritation and occasionally, an infection of the inner lining of the stomach.

All alcohol, especially in excessive amounts, can be the cause of such irritation. Spicy foods, tobacco and some drugs can also be responsible for gastritis.

Abdominal pain, heartburn and a sense of bloating can accompany beer drinking. Even though the alcoholic content of beer may be lower than that of hard liquor, it can still be the cause of your gastritis.

If you have found by past experience that beer produces these symptoms then the sensible thing to do is to reduce the amount and the frequency of your drinking.

SPEAKING OF YOUR HEALTH . . . Does anyone ever expect to fall asleep with a lighted cigarette in his hand? It happens often.

'The Story Of Blackhoof' Program For DAR Meeting

The program titled "The Story Of Blackhoof" was prepared by Miss Elizabeth Stevenson and read by Mrs. Richard Hedges at the recent meeting of Pickaway Plains Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution at First English Lutheran Church in Ashville.

Hostesses for the day were Mr. Stanley Bowers, Mrs. T. Wright Noecker, Mrs. John Ray Heffner, Mrs. Chester J. Rocky, Mrs. Paul Cromley, Mrs. Kermit Dountz, Mrs. Chester Noecker, Mrs. Earl William Lane, Mrs. Robert Katz and Mrs. Elliott Miller.

Opening services were conducted by Mrs. Henry Bartholomew assisted by Mrs. Emerson Spicer, who also led the Pledge of Allegiance to the Flag of the United States of America.

Mrs. Charles Beckman read a message from Mrs. Walelee Rawson, president general. The letter reminded members that Oct. 11, 1890 marked the day of the founding of DAR. The society had 13 members and today the national number is 600,000. The objectives established are guidelines today extending educational, historical and patriotic work for programs and projects which reflect interest in the country and its people.

Mrs. J. Austin Dowden, spoke in reference to the 2nd Resolution passed by the 83th Continental Congress, "United States Of American Bicentennial." She read an article from National Defender titled "Bicentennial Bunkum" regarding the dangerous People's Bicentennial Commission. The 3rd and 4th Resolutions were read. The 4th was supplemented by an article written by Margaret M. Andus entitled "Panama Canal Negotiations At Danger Point."

Mrs. Hedges read that the village of St. Johns in Ohio now stands where the once great Indian Chief Blackhoof lived and was once known as Blackhoof Town. Born In Florida in 1711, he was present at Braddock's defeat in 1755. During the French War he led the Shawnees in the attack at Fort Piqua. Experience told him of the hopelessness of the struggle against western progress of the white man and he finally signed the Treaty of Wayne. Even Tecumseh failed to influence him and he remained true to the American cause.

A story is told of Chief Blackhoof concerning his signing of the petition of the sale of his land around Wapakoneta to the United States Government. When asked why he sold the land his answer was that he might as well give up first as last.

Chief Balckhoof possessed a high sense of honor and his entire career presented the noble characteristics of a lofty and humane mind. He loathed the burning of prisoners and brought the force of all his teachings against polygamy which he abhorred.

He was a rather small man, mild mannered and cheerful. He could never be inducted to violate any promise or compromise honor. In his own village he remained true to the terms of peace. He died in 1831 at the age of 120 and is buried northeast of the village of St. Johns.

The author of this story was Alice L. Gordon who lives in St. John. Her interest in this Indian has resulted in serious research about him and his tribe.

Miss Florence Brown told about fluted points, a clue to Ohio's earliest people. It is believed man's appearance in Ohio may have been 12,000 BC.

An interesting display of Indian relics was prepared by Mrs. J. Wright Noecker and Miss Kathryn Decker.

Interstate 90 Work Continues

CLEVELAND (AP)—A state transportation department official says Interstate 90 through Cleveland will continue to be built without delay despite the decision of the Great Lakes Construction Company to abandon its contract to build a segment of the highway.

Thomas Krall, deputy director of the Cleveland district of the Ohio Department of Transportation, said the contract probably will be awarded to Peirce Construction Company which submitted a bid of about $24 million. Great Lakes bid about $20 million on Oct. 7.

The company was to build 1.7 miles of the highway from W. 44th to W. 95th in Cleveland.

Serving raw cranberry relish has its advantages because you can use less sugar in it than in the cooked sauce.

EUDICE'S PINEAPPLE SPONGE CAKE

1½ cups sifted cake flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
¼ teaspoon salt
6 eggs separated
1½ cups sugar
1 tablespoon lemon juice
½ cup unsweetened pineapple juice
Sift together the flour, baking powder and salt. Beat egg whites until soft peaks form; gradually beat in ¾ cup of the sugar until very stiff. Without washing beater, beat together the egg yolks and remaining ¾ cup sugar until thickened and lemon color; add lemon juice and pineapple juice and beat to blend. Gradually fold in flour mixture, then egg whites. Bake in an ungreased 10-inch angelcake pan in a preheated 325-degree oven until a cake tester inserted in the center comes out clean — about 1 hour. Invert until cool before loosening edges and around tube and easing cake from pan.

SOLE ANGLAIS

1 pound boneless and skinless sole fillets, thawed if frozen
½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
¼ teaspoon crushed dried thyme
Several large sprigs parsley, minced
1 small onion, finely chopped
2 large (generous ½ pound) tomatoes (skinned, seeded and diced)
1-3rd cup dry white wine
Heavy cream
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1½ tablespoons flour
Arrange fillets in a 12 by 8 by 2 inch baking dish. Sprinkle with salt, pepper, thyme, parsley, onion and tomato; add wine. Cover tightly with foil. Bake in a preheated 450-degree oven until fish is cooked through — about 15 minutes. With a bulb-type baster, syphon off liquid from around fish into a measure and reserve. Cover fillet dish with the foil and keep warm in a 200-degree oven. To fish liquid add enough cream to make 1 cup. In a small saucepan over low heat melt the butter; stir in flour. Off heat, gradually stir in cream mixture, keeping smooth. Cook over moderately low heat, stirring constantly, until bubbly and thickened. Syphon off liquid that has collected around fish and stir into sauce. If sauce is thinner than you like, reduce by boiling gently; if thicker, add a little more wine or cream. Pour sauce over fish. Makes 3 servings.

Teen Enters Wrong Contest

DEAR ABBY: I hope you will print my letter to warn other girls against mistaking the Miss U.S. Teen Pageant for the Miss Teenage America Pageant. I made that mistake.

I paid an entry fee of $75 and drove 260 miles from my home after being accepted as a Florida entry in the Miss U.S. Teen Pageant. I had to pay all my own expenses for an overnight trip, plus buy a special wardrobe.

The girl who won first prize got a $500 scholarship for a local college—a far cry from the $10,000 four-year scholarship for the college of her choice, which is what the winner of the Miss Teenage America Pageant gets.

Too late I discovered that I had entered a LOCAL teen Queen contest, thinking it was the National Miss Teenage America Pageant!

After checking, I learned that any girl can enter the preliminaries of the Miss Teenage America Pageant in her home town, and it doesn't cost her one penny. And she doesn't have to be sponsored. She can enter as a candidate at large.

I have chalked up my mistake to experience, but you could do teenage girls a big favor by advising them to find out exactly what each pageant does or does not offer before they enter.

DEAR TAKEN: Consider it done! Yours is only one of many such complaints I've received.

GIRLS, BEWARE!

DEAR ABBY: I am a sunny-dispositioned Aquarius who likes to write ragtime music, but my mother is making my life unbearable.

She is 72 and a Virgo. She is also the most self-righteous woman in the world. When I was 9, my father blew his brains out. Whether my mother drove him to it, I cannot say for certain, but the few memories I have of my father are the visits I paid him in a local hotel where he would stay frequently because he and my mother couldn't live at home together in peace.

My mother insulted my Edgar Cayce study group the other evening when she called them "a bunch of nincompoops," so I decided to move out of the house. I could write a book. If all this karma, I have paid my debt.

Now my mother wants me to come back so she'll have somebody to yell at. Am I wrong to refuse to return? I don't need her to provide me with room and board, but I feel guilty leaving her alone even though she does nothing but abuse me when I'm with her.

My psychiatrist tells me I shouldn't feel guilty. Should I?

School Aid Formula Said Unjust

CLEVELAND (AP) — U.S. Commissioner of Education Terrel Bell says the old formulas for state aid to schools are "obsolete and unjust."

Bell told the Council of the Great City Schools that cities face declining property values, but the property tax has remained the basic tax for the schools.

As a result, he said, schools in rich cities do better than do those in poor cities.

Even in states that try to equalize the difference, he said, there is not enough consideration given to problems unique to the large schools. He said big cities usually have more children with more problems, and states often fail to recognize this.

Bell said Congress recognized the difference in 1965 with the passage of legislation to provide funds to school systems with large numbers of poor children.

But, Bell added, the $2 billion annually that goes for this program "doesn't make much of a dent."

THE FAMILY LAWYER

With skid row robberies on the rise, Officer Jenkins was assigned to play the role of a decoy drunk. Dressed in tatters, he slumped against the wall of a downtown alley to await developments.

Sure enough, a man came along and went through his pockets. But when Jenkins placed him under arrest, the man called it foul play.

Afterward, in the courtroom, he accused the police of "entrapment." However, the court rejected this defense and found him guilty. The court said the original intent-to-steal was already in his mind before he ever saw his supposed victim.

Entrapment is not a valid defense to a criminal charge merely because the defendant happened to be caught by a trick.

"Artifice and stratagem," the United States Supreme Court has said, "may be employed to catch those engaged in criminal enterprises."

Law enforcement officers may not only "play possum," as Jenkins did, but also take affirmative action in gathering their evidence. For example:

A postal inspector sent in a request for obscene pictures that had been advertised for sale. Again, in the trial that followed, the court held that the seller could not escape punishment on grounds of entrapment.

The inspector had given him the opportunity to commit the offense, said the court, but had not suggested the idea in the first place.

On the other hand, the law does object if the police plant the seed of criminality in an innocent mind. Suppose that a careless driver, halted by an officer, is told he can buy his way out with a $20 bill. If he hands over the money and is then arrested for bribery, he could indeed invoke the defense of entrapment.

As one judge observed, in deploring the misuse of temptation:

"Human nature is frail enough at best."

Kniewel Completes Jump Over Buses

KINGS MILLS, Ohio (AP) — As soon as daredevil Evel Kniewel stepped off his motorcycle after jumping over 14 passenger buses Saturday, he began talking about safety.

"When I get too old to jump, I want to have something to point to with pride," said the 37-year-old Butte, Mont., native who had just ridden his motorcycle farther through the air than he had ever gone before.

Kniewel told a crowd of 35,000 at Kings Island Amusement Park that he was "accepting my responsibility to the kids who admire me" by promoting motorcycle safety and by saying farewell to the long dangerous jump which had brought him fame.

If the 14-bus jump was Kniewel's swan song, it appeared almost effortless. He admitted he nearly cracked his motorcycle in two on the descent. Unlike his jump at Wembley, England earlier this year where he fell short in an attempt to jump 13 buses, Kniewel had extended his descent ramp over the final bus and kept control of the motorcycle when he landed on top of the final vehicle.

"This jump was the result of years of practice and of following the rules of safety," said Kniewel, who was incensed at prejump talk about whether his attempt should be shown on national television.

Kniewel talks of safety for others and for himself after years of exposing himself to danger.

And each dangerous jump—at Las Vegas, Snake River Canyon in Idaho and Wembley, England—brought him increased fame and fortune.

His agents estimated his King's Island jump could earn him between $200,000 and $500,000.

"The rain cheated me out of half a million dollars," said Kniewel.

Yet if Kniewel were shortening his sights from adding more buses to jump, he was making no retirement speeches.

DEAR ABBY: I note that you told CHANGE OF HEART that she can do nothing about getting back the love letters she wrote to an old boyfriend because once sent, the letters become the property of the recipient.

That is not true. A letter remains the property of the person who wrote it, even though it may be physically possessed by the recipient.

DEAR V.J.J.: My legal counsel informs me that while the letters themselves become the property of the recipient, the author of the letters retains ownership of the literary content contained therein.

Cellar Lumber Co. Hit By Tool-Taking Thieves

Thieves made off with $1,301.33 worth of tools and equipment in an early Monday robbery at Cellar Lumber Co., 766 S. Pickaway St.

Circleville Police Ptl. Jim Francis, investigating the burglary, said the thieves apparently kicked in the rear door to the company. Merchandise taken included a variety of miscellaneous tools and power equipment including a chain saw.

The culprits apparently carried the items from the store to a waiting vehicle. A fire extinguisher was used to cover the tracks of the robbers.

Police spent most of their working time last weekend investigating vandalism reports.

Black spray paint was used to damage eight 1976 model trucks at the Harold Mundy, Inc., lot, a fence and outbuilding on E. Main St., and the convertible top of a vehicle which was parked on N. Court St.

Hal Conrad, a salesman, reported the damage at the Mundy lot, 520 E. Main St., where vandals apparently walked behind eight 1976 model trucks, spraying a line of black paint down their tailgates.

Damage is estimated at $55.

Black paint was also sprayed on a fence and barn at the 448 E. Main St. property of Lucille Black Friday night or Saturday morning.

However, the painted areas had been removed by Sunday, she said.

Woman Dies; Had Been 'Dead' Before

CANTON, Ohio (AP) — Belle Cordray, 68, was pronounced dead Friday.

Four years ago, Mrs. Cordray, a widow who had been under care for treatment of Parkinson's Disease, was declared dead and her body was sent to a funeral home.

A funeral home employee began making preparations for embalming when he thought he saw her tongue move. A moment later she took a breath.

Mrs. Cordray recovered from that ordeal, but spent the remaining years of her life at an extended care facility. A spokesman confirmed that she died in Molly Stark Hospital in Canton on Friday.

She filed a $150,000 damage suit against the physician who pronounced her dead and testified about the ordeal before the case was settled out of court for an undisclosed amount.

Mrs. Cordray claimed she had nightmares following the incident "that she's lying in a casket unable to breathe," said her attorney Eugene Okey.

Defense attorneys for the attending physician contended she had taken an overdose of barbiturates to combat the disease. This, together with the 40 degree temperatures in the room where she was found, made it impossible for the doctor to measure vital life signs, such as the pulse, the doctor's attorneys said.

GE Honors Employee For 25 Years Service

Investigate Fatal Airplane Crash

WILLIAMSTOWN, Mass. (AP) — The National Transportation Safety Board sent an investigator here Sunday to determine why a private plane crashed, killing two Maine Maritime Academy students.

Luther Gatling, the NTSB investigator, will issue a report on the probable cause of the crash within six months, said a spokesman for the Federal Aviation Administration.

Killed Saturday were William K. Davis, the pilot, of Marion, Ohio, and David Bruning, a passenger, of Marlboro.

The two freshmen at the Maine school were en route from the airport at Marlboro to Albany, N.Y., when the plane failed to clear a mountain and struck an oak tree about 10 inches in diameter, authorities said. The plane hit about 50 feet from the mountain crest, officials said.

Police spent most of their working time last weekend investigating vandalism reports.

Black spray paint was used to damage eight 1976 model trucks at the Harold Mundy, Inc., lot, a fence and outbuilding on E. Main St., and the convertible top of a vehicle which was parked on N. Court St.

Hal Conrad, a salesman, reported the damage at the Mundy lot, 520 E. Main St., where vandals apparently walked behind eight 1976 model trucks, spraying a line of black paint down their tailgates.

Damage is estimated at $55. Black paint was also sprayed on a fence and barn at the 448 E. Main St. property of Lucille Black Friday night or Saturday morning.

However, the painted areas had been removed by Sunday, she said.

Woman Dies; Had Been 'Dead' Before

CANTON, Ohio (AP) — Belle Cordray, 68, was pronounced dead Friday.

Four years ago, Mrs. Cordray, a widow who had been under care for treatment of Parkinson's Disease, was declared dead and her body was sent to a funeral home.

A funeral home employee began making preparations for embalming when he thought he saw her tongue move. A moment later she took a breath.

Mrs. Cordray recovered from that ordeal, but spent the remaining years of her life at an extended care facility. A spokesman confirmed that she died in Molly Stark Hospital in Canton on Friday.

She filed a $150,000 damage suit against the physician who pronounced her dead and testified about the ordeal before the case was settled out of court for an undisclosed amount.

Mrs. Cordray claimed she had nightmares following the incident "that she's lying in a casket unable to breathe," said her attorney Eugene Okey.

Defense attorneys for the attending physician contended she had taken an overdose of barbiturates to combat the disease. This, together with the 40 degree temperatures in the room where she was found, made it impossible for the doctor to measure vital life signs, such as the pulse, the doctor's attorneys said.

GE Honors Employee For 25 Years Service

Melvin Hunt recently received his 25 year service award from Ed Grigg, manager of GE Circleville Lamp Plant. He joined the local plant August 9, 1950 as a taper. He has been on Group Maintenance "A" since 1956.

Investigate Fatal Airplane Crash

WILLIAMSTOWN, Mass. (AP) — The National Transportation Safety Board sent an investigator here Sunday to determine why a private plane crashed, killing two Maine Maritime Academy students.

Luther Gatling, the NTSB investigator, will issue a report on the probable cause of the crash within six months, said a spokesman for the Federal Aviation Administration.

Killed Saturday were William K. Davis, the pilot, of Marion, Ohio, and David Bruning, a passenger, of Marlboro.

The two freshmen at the Maine school were en route from the airport at Marlboro to Albany, N.Y., when the plane failed to clear a mountain and struck an oak tree about 10 inches in diameter, authorities said. The plane hit about 50 feet from the mountain crest, officials said.

CHS Council Offers Halloween Insurance

Halloween Insurance and painting downtown fire hydrants are the two community service projects the Circleville High School Student Council has planned for this year.

For the bicentennial, the council is in the process of painting 25 downtown fire hydrants. The Council is purchasing a mini-pac of patterns, with money donated by PPG Industries, Rotary, K of C, Garden Clubs and Kiwanis.

Paint has been donated by PPG Industries and R. W. Ankrum Co. Each hydrant takes approximately four hours to complete.

Chairman, Debbie Butler adds that the council hopes to include residential areas if the project is successful downtown.

Persons wishing further information concerning the fire hydrants, call Debbie Butler, 474-8368.

At one time or another everyone has been the victim of vandals during Halloween. As both a service and money-making project, CHS Student Council is sponsoring a clean-up on Oct. 31.

Anyone interested in this endeavor must contact a member of the committee before Thursday.

Student Council president Jeff Lackey comments, "We cannot guarantee that the people buying Halloween Insurance will not be vandalized, however, if they have purchased insurance ahead of time, and are plagued by pranks, the council will clean up everything the next morning."

Persons wishing to purchase the insurance should contact committee members, Greg Lundberg, 474-2732; Leslie Ried, 474-6339; Hans Aberg, 474-6508.

Blaze Sweeps VFW Quarters

GENEVA, Ohio (AP) — Fire swept the Veterans of Foreign Wars lodge here early Sunday, causing extensive damage, fire officials said.

The cause of the blaze was not immediately determined, Geneva fire chief Robert Bancroft said. He said a dollar figure had not been set for the damage, but it was expected to be high.

Four departments fought the pre-dawn blaze more than three hours before bringing it under control, authorities said. One fireman was treated at a local hospital for a cut wrist and released.

Three Hurt In 104-22 Accident

Three people were seriously injured at 2:55 p.m. Sunday when a car went through the stop sign at Routes 104 and 22.

According to the report made on the accident by State Highway Patrolman Dale Cline, the first car was driven by Homer L. Miller, 74, Route 1. Waterloo. He was southbound on Route 104 and stopped for the lights on Route 22 but proceeded through the intersection. Miller told Ptl. Cline that he saw the second car coming but thought the intersection had a four-way stop.

As Miller pulled into the intersection, he was struck in the left side by the second auto. Driving the other car was Patrick Lee Clark, 21, Chillicothe. Ptl. Cline said the impact knocked the Miller auto 241 feet on Route 22.

Miller received massive fractures and minor lacerations. A passenger in his car, Mrs. Gladys I. Miller, 68, of the same address, also received massive fractures. Both Miller and his wife were taken to Berger Hospital but were later transferred to the Oak Hill Hospital near Jackson.

Clark received a laceration to the scalp and was treated and released at Berger Hospital.

The accident is still under investigation and presently, no citations have been issued by the officer.

UAW Chief Rips Demo Congressmen

CLEVELAND (AP)—United Auto Workers International President Leonard Woodcock says Democratic leaders in Congress should discipline members who support President Ford's vetoes of important legislation affecting the economy.

Speaking Sunday at an unemployment rally sponsored by UAW Region 2, Woodcock said even though Ford had vetoed legislation needed for economic recovery, Congressional Democrats must share the blame for failure to pass the legislation over Ford's veto.

Speaking at an unemployment rally sponsored by UAW Region 2, Woodcock criticized the Democratic caucus for not enforcing party discipline to override the vetoes.

He singled out nine Democratic Congressmen who hold leadership posts and who he said stood with the President on his veto of a jobs bill.

Noting that the Democratic caucus appoints these chairmen, Woodcock said the caucus should say it is a matter of party policy and "any Democrat who does not support it at least should not continue to be a chairman of a committee or subcommittee."

"It is a matter of party responsibility," he added.

Among those appearing at the rally were three Democratic Congressmen from the Cleveland area—Rep. James Stanton, Rep. Louis Stokes and Rep. Ronald Mottl.

Stokes and Stanton denounced Ford, called for new leadership and said it should start with election of Democrat Arnold Pinkney as mayor of Cleveland.

Patriots Surprise 49ers

By BRUCE LOWITT
AP Sports Writer
Some quarterbacks are hurt by others. Then there are those who hurt themselves.

New England's Jim Plunkett got hurt in the first period on a keeper play. When he was hit, he suffered a recurrence of his preseason left shoulder separation. But it wound up hurting San Francisco more. His replacement, rookie Steve Grogan, passed the Patriots to a 24-16 victory over the 49ers.

Atlanta's Steve Bartkowski also got hurt in the first period against Cincinnati when he suffered a dislocated elbow. But it hurt the Falcons, too. He'd already directed them to a touchdown. And although Kim McQuilken pulled out a 21-14 victory.

Pittsburgh's Terry Bradshaw got hurt in the fourth period when Green Bay linebacker Fred Carr bashed him and shook him up. So Joe Gilliam took over and directed the Steelers into position for Roy Gerela's field goal that beat the Packers 16-13.

But without doubt the most pain was suffered by Buffalo's Joe Ferguson — and he brought it all upon himself. He threw the ball when he shouldn't have.

With 3:09 to play and the Bills leading Miami 30-28, Buffalo was on its own 13-yard line. Instead of trying to run out the clock on the ground, Ferguson chose to get out of trouble in a hurry. Instead he got into it. On first-and-10, he threw the ball — right to Miami safety Jake Scott on the Buffalo 22.

The Dolphins took that gift and drove for the winning score, Don Nottingham's third touchdown of the game with just 1:25 to play, beating the Bills 35-30.

In Sunday's other National Football League games, Dallas edged Philadelphia 20-17, Houston blitzed Detroit 24-8, Kansas City whipped Denver 26-13, Baltimore routed the New York Jets 45-28, Washington breezed past Cleveland 23-7, Los Angeles trounced New Orleans 38-14 and Oakland blanked San Diego 25-0. On Saturday, St. Louis beat the New York Giants 20-13. Minnesota is at Chicago tonight.

Scott said Miami crossed up Ferguson by switching from zone coverage to man-to-man. "Curtis Johnson and I doublecovered J.D. Hill and I had the inside," said Scott, who slipped in front of the Buffalo wide receiver for the interception. "We had gone mostly with a zone all night ... I guess they figured we would be in a zone again."

Almost overlooked because of those last few minutes was the job Miami did on O.J. Simpson, holding him to just 88 yards — 38 fewer than his previous low this year against the Giants last

Reds Give Anderson New Pact

CINCINNATI (AP) — Sparky Anderson, whose contract was up this year, has been rewarded for piloting the Cincinnati Reds to their first World Series title in 35 years.

The 41-year-old Anderson has signed a new two-year contract extending through the 1977 season, according to club president Bob Howsam.

Anderson, the most successful manager in Cincinnati history, became manager of the Reds in 1970 and has won four National League Western Division titles while compiling a .603 winning percentage. The Reds have won three NL pennants during the six years and their first World Series since 1940.

It was also announced by Howsam that Anderson's entire coaching staff was also rehired. The staff includes batting coach Ted Kluszewski, pitching coach Larry Shepard, third base coach Alex Grammas and first base coach George Scherger.

Under Anderson, the Reds have been baseball's winningest team, averaging 97 victories for the six seasons.

Monday night.

Patriots 24, 49ers 16

Grogan passed 11 yards to Andy Johnson and seven to Randy Vataha for two touchdowns that powered the Patriots past San Francisco.

Bengals 21, Falcons 14

Ken Anderson passed 30 yards to Charlie Joiner for one touchdown, then scored the tiebreaker himself on a three-yard keeper with 2:04 remaining to beat Atlanta and keep the Bengals unbeaten.

Jim Mitchell got both Atlanta touchdowns on a 17-yard pass from Bartkowski and a two-yarder from McQuilken.

Steelers 16, Packers 13

Rocky Bleier rambled for 163 yards, 29 of them in four carries on the drive that set up Gerela's decisive 29-yard field goal with 1:04 left which lifted Pittsburgh past the pesky Packers.

Cowboys 20, Eagles 17

Toni Fritsch's 42-yard field goal at the final gun gave Dallas its come-from-behind victory over the Eagles.

The Cowboys trailed 17-10 before Roger Staubach threw a 21-yard game-tying touchdown pass to Drew Pearson with 1:04 left in the final period. Then they forced a punt that gave them the ball on their own 40. Four plays later, Staubach hit Pearson for 20 yards to set up Fritsch's kick.

Oilers 24, Lions 8

Dan Pastorini's 56-yard touchdown bomb to Ken Burrough and Billy Johnson's dazzling 52-yard punt return for another score in a 1½-minute span of the third period fired the Oilers past Detroit.

Chiefs 26, Broncos 13

Jan Stenerud kicked a field goal in each period — boots covering 28, 46, 37 and 23 yards — and quarterback Mike Livingston passed for one touchdown and ran for one in Kansas City's victory over the Broncos.

Colts 45, Jets 28

Bert Jones ran 15 yards for a touchdown, then passed for 15 and 68 yards to rookie running back Marshall Johnson for two more scores in Baltimore's romp over the Jets. Joe Namath passed for three of New York's touchdowns and his 91-yard pass play to Richard Caster set up the

Redskins Top Browns; Win 23-7

CLEVELAND (AP)—Pete Athas ran into an old friend Sunday and it was a costly meeting for the Cleveland Browns.

Athas, a Cleveland defensive back and kick returner, ran into Washington Redskins' linebacker Pete Wysocki on a third-period punt return. The resulting fumble was picked off in the air by Washington back Ralph Nelson and set up the Redskins' second touchdown in a 23-7 victory over their National Football League nemesis.

It was the first time in 13 regular season games the Redskins have been able to beat the Browns.

Both coaches, George Allen of the Redskins and Forrest Gregg of the Browns, agreed the fumble by Athas was the turning point in the game.

It came only minutes after Cleveland's touchdown had narrowed the margin to 9-7.

"I played with Pete in the Atlantic Coast League and I know he always made the big play in New York (playing for the Giants)," Wysocki said. "He coughed up the ball and that's not like him."

Nelson, a rookie running back playing on Washington's special teams, said of the fumble, "I had it all the way. Wysocki and Rusty Tillman scissored him (Athas). I didn't see it, but I heard it. He couldn't do anything but cough that one up."

Allen, whose Redskins raised their season record to 4-2, said, "Cleveland had momentum when we punted out of our end zone. But when Nelson got the ball in the air..." he let his voice trail off.

fourth one.

Redskins 23, Browns 7

Running back Larry Brown caught a 12-yard touchdown pass from Billy Kilmer and Brown's heir-apparent, rookie Mike Thomas, ripped through winless Cleveland for 124 yards and scored twice in Washington's victory.

The Browns' lone touchdown — their first in nine quarters — came on a 15-yard pass from Brian Sipe to rookie tight end Oscar Roan.

Rams 38, Saints 14

Cullen Bryant bolted in for touchdowns of one and three yards, John Cappelletti and Rob Scribner also ran for scores and James Harris teamed with Bob Klein on a three-yard TD pass as the Rams routed New Orleans.

The Saints' scores came on Archie Manning's 15-yard pass to Larry Burton and a one-yard run by Rod McNeil.

Raiders 25, Chargers 0

Pete Banaszak's touchdown bursts of one and two yards and Ken Stabler's 45-yard scoring pass to Cliff Branch carried the Raiders past San Diego.

The winless Chargers' closest scoring chance came in the first half when they reached the Oakland 17-yard line. But Ray Werschinger was wide on a 34-yard field goal attempt.

Cardinals 20, Giants 13

Mel Gray gathered in touchdown passes of 51 yards from running back Terry Metcalf and 38 yards from quarterback Jim Hart to lead St. Louis past the Giants.

Little Tigers Lose To Smith, 14-12

Failure to add the conversion after two touchdowns in the first half cost the Circleville Junior High gridders as they dropped a 14-12 to Chillicothe Smith on the winner's gridiron.

Anthony Smith capped a 60-yard drive in the first quarter when he raced into paydirt on a 20-yard reverse.

Smith evened the score in the second canto on a 40-yard pass play but Danny Martin put the Tigers back on top when he swept left end and raced 65 yards with 17 seconds left in the half.

The second half was a real defensive battle until Smith managed to score a touchdown and two-point conversion with 1:00 left in the game.

Circleville will host Westfall 10 a.m. Saturday.

Tiger Reserves Blank Shermans

Circleville's reserves traveled to Uniontown Saturday morning and ripped the Shermans, 28-0, to run the Tigers season Mark to 6-1.

Dave Marshall tallied twice in the first half on runs of one and six yards. Mike Brudzinski also scored in the first half when he broke loose on a 62-yard touchdown gallop.

Brad Allison scored the final touchdown on an 8-yard run in the fourth quarter.

Greg Berrigan and Doug Brown each scored two-point conversions.

Circleville coaches felt it was a fine team effort, offensively and defensively, and was probably the best game the reserves have played this year.

The Tigers will be at Washington C. H. 10 a.m. Saturday.

Archie Griffin Sets New Rushing Mark

By JOE MOOSHIL

AP Sports Writer

Coach Woody Hayes of Ohio State has had a stream of great football players in his days but the dean of Big Ten coaches doesn't hesitate a moment when asked who was the greatest.

"Arch" says Woody, referring to Archie Griffin, who is trying to become the first player in history to repeat as the Heisman Trophy winner.

Whether Griffin succeeds in that respect will not be known until the season ends, but last Saturday he became collegiate football's all-time rushing leader. Arch gained 130 yards in 20 carries to boost his career total to 4,730 yards, eclipsing the previous mark of 4,715 yards by Ed Marinaro of Cornell.

Griffin's performance helped undefeated and top-ranked Ohio State to roll to a 35-7 victory over Purdue and maintain a share of its Big Ten lead with Michigan. Michigan smothered Indiana 55-7, Illinois upset Michigan State 21-19 and Minnesota surprised Iowa 31-7.

Griffin wasn't the only hero in the Buckeye scheme. Pete Johnson scored two touchdowns and gained 131 yards in 18 carries. Johnson now has 18 touchdowns for the season, two short of the Big Ten record set by Champ Henson of Ohio State in 1972.

Hayes' only disappointment was that the Buckeyes did not get a shutout, although Ohio State has yet to yield a touchdown in Big Ten play. Steve Schmitt booted a pair of field goals for the Boilermakers for the only points scored against Ohio State in conference play this season.

Michigan also had its heroes in romping over Indiana, but the Hoosiers gained the distinction of scoring the first touchdown against Michigan in Big Ten play this season.

Before that happened, Michigan had climbed into a 48-0 lead. Jim Smith went 77 yards for a touchdown on the second play of the game and Rob Lytle scored four touchdowns.

"Our goal for the Indiana game was not to turnover the ball more than once," said Coach Bo Schembechler. "We accomplished that...We had no turnovers, no fumbles or intercepted passes. But from now on the games will get progressively tougher."

Lytle gained 147 yards in 22 carries and called it his best game at Michigan.

"It was a revenge game for me," said Lytle. "I had two fumbles in the Indiana game last year and they were costly. After that game I sat on the bench a lot, so I was glad I could prove myself against Indiana."

Illinois put on one of its greatest comebacks by rallying from a 13-0 deficit in the third quarter for its third conference victory in four starts as Kurt Steger threw three touchdown passes including one from a fake field goal play.

Steger pushed the Illini into a 21-13 lead but Michigan State roared back to score on a Charlie Baggett shortrun. Baggett then tried to scramble for two extra points and a tie but failed.

Gears Rip Owls, 7-3

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The International Hockey League season is only a little more than a week old, but already the Saginaw Gears are looking like they intend to be playoff contenders again.

One of the secrets to a successful season is in winning all your games against the weaker clubs and trying to break even against the real contenders.

The Gears do that well and they proved it again Sunday with a solid 7-3 victory over the Columbus Owls.

Saginaw got two goals apiece from Stu Irving, Dave Westner and Bordon Smith to run its record to 3-1. The Owls, meanwhile, are winless in four starts this season.

In other IHL action, Flint defeated Fort Wayne, 4-2; Port Huron edged Muskegon, 3-2, and Kalamazoo skated to a 6-6 tie with Toledo.

Flint's Doug Manchak and Kirk Bowman scored two goals each to lead the Generals past the Fort Wayne Komets. Scoring for the Komets were Greg Clause and Terry McDougall.

Local CC Teams Fail To Qualify For State Meet

Team champion in section II was Granville with 20 points. Circleville tallied 181 while Westfall had 411. Ron Houk of Lakewood was the individual champion with a time of 10:06.

Heath and Granville will represent the Central District Saturday in the State meet at the Ohio State University golf course.

Finishing for Circleville were: Dave Uland, 17, 10:29; Tom Taylor, 25th, 10:37; Doug Baker, 44th, 10:56; Rusty Holbrook, 47th, 10:59; Randy Speakman, 48th, 11:00; Tim Milstead, 53rd, 11:05; Dave Holbrook, 69th, 11:23.

Patriots Surprise 49ers

By BRUCE LOWITT
AP Sports Writer

Some quarterbacks are hurt by others. Then there are those who hurt themselves.

New England's Jim Plunkett got hurt in the first period on a keeper play. When he was hit, he suffered a recurrence of his preseason left shoulder separation. But it wound up hurting San Francisco more. His replacement, rookie Steve Grogan, passed the Patriots to a 24-16 victory over the 49ers.

Atlanta's Steve Bartkowski also got hurt in the first period against Cincinnati when he suffered a dislocated elbow. But it hurt the Falcons, too. He'd already directed them to a touchdown. And although Kim McQuiken got them another one, Cincinnati pulled out a 21-14 victory.

Pittsburgh's Terry Bradshaw got hurt in the fourth period when Green Bay linebacker Fred Carr bashed him and shook him up. So Joe Gilliam took over and directed the Steelers into position for Roy Gerela's field goal that beat the Packers 16-13.

But without doubt the most pain was suffered by Buffalo's Joe Ferguson — and he brought it all upon himself. He threw the ball when he shouldn't have.

With 3:09 to play and the Bills leading Miami 30-28, Buffalo was on its own 13-yard line. Instead of trying to run out the clock on the ground, Ferguson chose to get out of trouble in a hurry. Instead he got into it. On first-and-10, he threw the ball — right to Miami safety Jake Scott on the Buffalo 22.

The Dolphins took that gift and drove for the winning score, Don Nottingham's third touchdown of the game with just 1:25 to play, beating the Bills 35-30.

In Sunday's other National Football League games, Dallas edged Philadelphia 20-17, Houston blitzed Detroit 24-8, Kansas City whipped Denver 26-13, Baltimore routed the New York Jets 45-28, Washington breezed past Cleveland 23-7, Los Angeles trounced New Orleans 38-14 and Oakland blanked San Diego 20-0. On Saturday, St. Louis beat the New York Giants 20-13. Minnesota is at Chicago tonight.

Scott said Miami crossed up Ferguson by switching from zone coverage to man-to-man. "Curtis Johnson and I doublecovered J.D. Hill and I had the inside," said Scott, who slipped in front of the Buffalo wide receiver for the interception. "We had gone mostly with a zone all night. I guess they figured we would be in a zone again."

Almost overlooked because of those last few minutes was the job Miami did on O.J. Simpson, holding him to just 88 yards — 38 fewer than his previous low this year against the Giants last

Reds Give Anderson New Pact

CINCINNATI (AP) — Sparky Anderson, whose contract was up this year, has been rewarded for piloting the Cincinnati Reds to their first World Series title in 35 years.

The 41-year-old Anderson has signed a new two-year contract extending through the 1977 season, according to club president Bob Howsam.

Anderson, the most successful manager in Cincinnati history, became manager of the Reds in 1970 and has won four National League Western Division titles while compiling a .603 winning percentage. The Reds have won three NL pennants during the six years and their first World Series since 1940.

It was also announced by Howsam that Anderson's entire coaching staff was also rehired. The staff includes batting coach Ted Kluszewski, pitching coach Larry Shepard, third base coach Alex Grammas and first base coach George Scherger.

Under Anderson, the Reds have been baseball's winningest team, averaging 97 victories for the six seasons.

Monday night.

Patriots 24, 49ers 16
Grogan passed 11 yards to Andy Johnson and seven to Randy Vataha for two touchdowns that powered the Patriots past San Francisco.

Bengals 21, Falcons 14
Ken Anderson passed 30 yards to Charlie Joiner for one touchdown, then scored the tiebreaker himself on a three-yard keeper with 2:04 remaining to beat Atlanta and keep the Bengals unbeaten.

Jim Mitchell got both Atlanta touchdowns on a 17-yard pass from Bartkowski and a two-yarder from McQuiken.

Steelers 16, Packers 13
Rocky Bleier rambled for 163 yards, 29 of them in four carries on the drive that set up Gerela's decisive 29-yard field goal with 1:04 left which lifted Pittsburgh past the pesky Packers.

Cowboys 20, Eagles 17
Toni Fritsch's 42-yard field goal at the final gun gave Dallas its come-from-behind victory over the Eagles.

The Cowboys trailed 17-10 before Roger Staubach threw a 21-yard game-tying touchdown pass to Drew Pearson with 1:04 left in the final period. Then they forced a punt that gave them the ball on their own 40. Four plays later, Staubach hit Pearson for 20 yards to set up Fritsch's kick.

Oilers 24, Lions 8
Dan Pastorini's 56-yard touchdown bomb to Ken Burrough and Billy Johnson's dazzling 52-yard punt return for another score in a 1½-minute span of the third period fired the Oilers past Detroit.

Chiefs 26, Broncos 13
Jan Stenerud kicked a field goal in each period — boots covering 28, 46, 37 and 23 yards — and quarterback Mike Livingston passed for one touchdown and ran for one in Kansas City's victory over the Broncos.

Colts 45, Jets 28
Bert Jones ran 15 yards for a touchdown, then passed for 15 and 68 yards to rookie running back Marshall Johnson for two more scores in Baltimore's romp over the Jets. Joe Namath passed for three of New York's touchdowns and his 91-yard pass play to Richard Caster set up the

Redskins Top Browns; Win 23-7

CLEVELAND (AP)—Pete Athas ran into an old friend Sunday and it was a costly meeting for the Cleveland Browns.

Athas, a Cleveland defensive back and kick returner, ran into Washington Redskins' linebacker Pete Wysocki on a third-period punt return. The resulting fumble was picked off in the air by Washington back Ralph Nelson and set up the Redskins' second touchdown in a 23-7 victory over their National Football League nemesis.

It was the first time in 13 regular season games the Redskins have been able to beat the Browns.

Both coaches, George Allen of the Redskins and Forrest Gregg of the Browns, agreed the fumble by Athas was the turning point in the game.

It came only minutes after Cleveland's touchdown had narrowed the margin to 9-7.

"I played with Pete in the Atlantic Coast League and I know he always made the big play in New York (playing for the Giants)," Wysocki said. "He coughed up the ball and that's not like him."

Nelson, a rookie running back playing on Washington's special teams, said of the fumble, "I had it all the way. Wysocki and Rusty Tillman scissored him (Athas). I didn't see it, but I heard it. He couldn't do anything but cough that one up."

Allen, whose Redskins raised their season record to 4-2, said, "Cleveland had momentum when we punted out of our end zone. But when Nelson got the ball in the air..." he let his voice trail off.

Upsets Mark Collegiate Grid Action

AP Sports Writer

While King Archie the First of Columbus was becoming major college football's all-time leading ground-gainer, while his Ohio State playmates and the next eight teams in The Associated Press ratings were rolling to victory, while Southern California and Nebraska were reaffirming their exalted status against Second Ten teams, while all this was going on, four clubs that haven't much to cheer about lately were grabbing a share of the limelight.

The Big Four, at least for the weekend, were New Mexico, Illinois, Navy and Louisiana State, all of which knocked off ranking teams.

The Lobos of New Mexico ended 13th-ranked Arizona's perfect mark — as well as the Wildcats' record nine-game winning streak — with a wild 44-34 upset as Steve Myer completed 28 of 36 passes for 351 yards and four touchdowns.

Illinois stormed back from a 13-0 third-period deficit and defeated 16th-ranked Michigan State 21-19 as Kurt Steger threw two touchdown passes to Joe Smalzer and one to Phil Vierniseil.

Navy, 5-2 and one triumph away from its first winning season since 1967, stunned 17th-ranked Pitt 17-0 for what third-year Coach George Welsh called "the best win I've had since coming to Navy." The Middies scored on short runs by Bob Jackson and Gerry Goodwin and used a swarming defense, led by rover Chet Moeller, to hand the Panthers their first shutout in three years under Coach Johnny Majors.

And LSU, under fire from its fair-weather fans, put a big feather in beleaguered Coach Charlie McClendon's cap with a 24-6 decision over South Carolina as Terry Robiskie scored twice in 11 seconds. The first came on a one-yard dive and the second after South Carolina's Mike Bolden fumbled the ensuing kickoff at his two.

Not far behind were resurgent Syracuse, 4-3 for the first time since 1970 following a 22-14 come-from-behind victory over Boston College; North Texas State, which tacked a 21-14 stunner over Tennessee onto an earlier rout of Houston; East Carolina, which struck a blow for the unheralded Southern Conference with a 38-17 rout of Atlantic Coast Conference foe North Carolina, and Wake Forest, which swamped Virginia 66-21 for its highest point total in 34 years and the most yielded by Virginia since 1933.

At the top of the heap was No. 1-ranked Ohio State, which trimmed Purdue 35-6 as Archie Griffin gained 130 yards to run his career total to 4,730, surpassing the mark of 4,715 set by Cornell's Ed Marinaro. However, it took Griffin 38 regular-season games while Marinaro did it in just 27 games from 1969-71.

Runerup Oklahoma remained tied for the Big Eight lead with the Nebraska Cornhuskers via a 39-7 triumph over Iowa State as the defense, led by 260-pound tackle Leroy Selmon, pressured the losers into early turnovers while the sputtering offense lost six of a record 13 fumbles. Meanwhile, the fourth-ranked Huskers whopped No. 10 Colorado 63-21 as Vince Ferragamo passed for two touchdowns and John O'Leary ran for two.

Third-ranked Southern Cal continued its recent domination of Notre Dame, beating the 14th-ranked Irish 24-17 as Ricky Bell, the nation's leading rusher, gained 165 yards, the most ever by a Trojan runner in the celebrated 50-year rivalry.

Texas A&M, the No. 5 team, used Lester Hayes' tie-breaking 77-yard dash with a mid-air fumble to defeat Baylor's defending Southwest Conference champs 19-10.

Golfing Champions Named Among Schools

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Youngstown Ursuline, Coshocton and New Philadelphia Tuscarawas Catholic are the first team champions of the 1975-1976 Ohio high school sports season.

The three schools swept to the state golf titles as did Mitch Camp of Orr-ville, the individual winner, in the 50th annual competition Saturday at Ohio State.

Ohio's Xavier University was established in 1831 by the first Catholic Bishop of Cincinnati, Edward Fenwick.

Bowling At A Glance

Circle D Recreation and Prairie Lanes will participate in the 19th annual Heart Fund Bowling Tournament beginning with league competition Nov. 2 and continuing through Nov. 8.

The tournament features two divisions for men and two for women based on league averages. Divisions are: women, 140 and under average; 141 and over average and men, 160 and under average; 161 and over average.

A bowler may enter the tournament each time he or she bowls with a league. Bowlers must have an established league average, having bowled at least 12 games with the league to establish the average. Winners must have at least one pin over their average to qualify for prize money in the local tournament. Prizes go to the bowlers, both men and women, who score the most pins over current league average for a three-game series.

The tournament is a joint project of the Heart Association and the Bowling Proprietors Associations. An entry fee is charged with 70 per cent of the fee going to the Heart Association and 30 per cent going to the local lanes for cash prizes.

While King Archie the First of Columbus was becoming major college football's all-time leading ground-gainer, while his Ohio State playmates and the next eight teams in The Associated Press ratings were rolling to victory, while Southern California and Nebraska were reaffirming their exalted status against Second Ten teams, while all this was going on, four clubs that haven't much to cheer about lately were grabbing a share of the limelight.

The Big Four, at least for the weekend, were New Mexico, Illinois, Navy and Louisiana State, all of which knocked off ranking teams.

The Lobos of New Mexico ended 13th-ranked Arizona's perfect mark — as well as the Wildcats' record nine-game winning streak — with a wild 44-34 upset as Steve Myer completed 28 of 36 passes for 351 yards and four touchdowns.

Illinois stormed back from a 13-0 third-period deficit and defeated 16th-ranked Michigan State 21-19 as Kurt Steger threw two touchdown passes to Joe Smalzer and one to Phil Vieneisel.

Navy, 5-2 and one triumph away from its first winning season since 1967, stunned 17th-ranked Pitt 17-0 for what third-year Coach George Welsh called "the best win I've had since coming to Navy." The Middies scored on short runs by Bob Jackson and Gerry Goodwin and used a swarming defense, led by rover Chet Moeller, to hand the Panthers their first shutout in three years under Coach Johnny Majors.

And LSU, under fire from its fair-weather fans, put a big feather in beleaguered Coach Charlie McClendon's cap with a 24-6 decision over South Carolina as Terry Robiskie scored twice in 11 seconds. The first came on a one-yard dive and the second after South Carolina's Mike Bolden fumbled the ensuing kickoff at his two.

Not far behind were resurgent Syracuse, 4-3 for the first time since 1970 following a 22-14 come-from-behind victory over Boston College; North Texas State, which tacked a 21-14 stunner over Tennessee onto an earlier rout of Houston; East Carolina, which struck a blow for the unheralded Southern Conference with a 38-17 rout of Atlantic Coast Conference foe North Carolina; and Wake Forest, which swamped Virginia 66-21 for its highest point total in 34 years and the most yielded by Virginia since 1933.

At the top of the heap was No. 1-ranked Ohio State, which trimmed Purdue 35-6 as Archie Griffin gained 130 yards to run his career total to 4,730, surpassing the mark of 4,715 set by Cornell's Ed Marinaro. However, it took Griffin 38 regular-season games while Marinaro did it in just 27 games from 1969-71.

Runerup Oklahoma remained tied for the Big Eight lead with the Nebraska Cornhuskers via a 39-7 triumph over Iowa State as the defense, led by 260-pound tackle Leroy Selmon, pressured the losers into early turnovers while the sputtering offense lost six of a record 13 fumbles. Meanwhile, the fourth-ranked Huskers whopped No. 10 Colorado 63-21 as Vince Ferragamo passed for two touchdowns and John O'Leary ran for two.

Third-ranked Southern Cal continued its recent domination of Notre Dame, beating the 14th-ranked Irish 24-17 as Ricky Bell, the nation's leading rusher, gained 165 yards, the most ever by a Trojan runner in the celebrated 50-year rivalry.

Texas A&M, the No. 5 team, used Lester Hayes' tie-breaking 77-yard dash with a mid-air fumble to defeat Baylor's defending Southwest Conference champs 19-10.

Sixth-ranked Alabama took a weekend off from Southeastern Conference play and crushed winless Texas Christian 45-0 as Johnny Davis galloped 66 yards for one TD and Richard Todd tallied twice.

Michigan, rated seventh, kept pace with Ohio State atop the Big Ten by clouting Indiana 55-7 as Jimmy Smith bolted 77 yards to score on the game's second play and Rob Lytle scored four times.

Eighth-ranked Texas is still deadlocked with the Texas Aggies in the SWC after routing Rice 41-9 as Gralyn Wyatt tallied three touchdowns in a steady rain on nifty Wishbone pitchouts from slick Marty Akins.

No. 9 Penn State allowed Army across midfield three times and blanked the Cadets 31-0 behind Woody Petchel's 139 yards and two touchdowns.

Elsewhere in the Second Ten, No. 11 Arizona State, held to a scoreless halftime tie by lowly Texas-El Paso, got short third-period touchdown runs from Fred Mortensen and Mark Lovett and pulled away 24-6.

No. 12 Florida, tied with Alabama for the SEC lead in a race unlikely to be settled to anyone's satisfaction since they don't play each other, defeated Duke 24-16 in a non-league game as birthday boy Jimmy DuBose scored three touchdowns and gained 141 yards for a one-season school record of 906.

Curt Brown, subbing for injured Tony Galbreath, rushed for 141 yards and two touchdowns in 15th-ranked Missouri's 35-3 trouncing of Kansas State. No. 18 Maryland was idle but No. 19 UCLA whipped California 28-14 and tied Southern Cal for the Pacific-8 lead as John Sciarra scored twice and passed for a third TD while Wendell Tyler romped for 143 yards.

FOR TUESDAY
ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 20): Give extra attention to business affairs now. The slightest carelessness or neglect of detail could cause needless losses later.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 to May 21): You may have to revise some plans. Others may assist somewhat but, in general, you must draft your own alterations. Be prepared for the unexpected.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21): Your Mercury highly auspicious. A good day for attaining a cherished goal. Someone behind the scenes is working in your interest.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23): Forethought must be day's watchword. Make no important decisions and sign no agreements without careful deliberation. Some misleading influences.

LEO (July 24 to Aug. 23): Don't overspend in an effort to impress others. In fact, wading out of your depth financially in any way would be extremely foolish now.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23): Avoid a tendency toward pessimism. Why assume that things will not work out? Couple your lively imagination with your innate practicality, and you can get around almost any situation.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23): Stellar influences excellent! Both artistry and imagination stimulated. Use both well and results will please.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 22): Weigh fitness and the validity of proposed action carefully. Keep eyes on the farthest horizon possible as you steer your course.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 to Dec. 21): You may have an unpleasant situation to deal with, or some complexity in a job matter. But your optimism and know-how can turn things to advantage if you don't panic.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): Information needed to consummate a business deal now forthcoming. With the added facts on hand, proceed as originally planned.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): Be cautious in dealing with associates. Some may urge you to make certain commitments against your better judgment. Don't let yourself be pressured.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): Your intuition and self-reliance stimulated now. And both will be needed if you are to solve some possible "tricky" situations. Don't yield to anxiety, however. YOU BORN TODAY are endowed with a highly active mind which is always teeming with progressive ideas — AND practical concepts for carrying them out. Stability and security are your first concerns and you will work tirelessly to attain the goals you set for yourself. You have a tremendous sense of responsibility and both family members and business associates know that you will never let them down. Here, however, you may sometimes find impositions placed upon you. Be alert! Fields in which you could especially succeed: business, statesmanship, medicine, the law. Birthdate of: Capt. 'Brigadoon' Combines Both Comedy, Romance

LEAD ROLES — Gary Vermillion portraying Jeff Douglas looks perplexed by the amorous advances of Scottish lassie Meg Brockie, played by Janice Perdion, in this scene from a RP rehearsal of "Brigadoon". Tickets for the Nov. 6-9 and 13-15 musical are now on sale outside the theater entrance at Memorial Hall and may also be reserved by dialing 474-5856 Monday through Saturday from 10:30 a.m. - 6:00 p.m. and until 8 p.m. on Fridays.

A bit of comedy is added to the romance of Roundtown Players' musical production "Brigadoon" in the characters of Meg Brockie, played by Janice Perdion and Jeff Douglas, portrayed by Gary Vermillion.

Ms. Perdion, who won an audience appreciation award for her starring role two seasons ago in the murder mystery "Mousetrap", is appearing in her first singing role as the town siren whose advances toward Vermillion, portraying an American tourist are less than subtle.

An employee of the Ohio State Bureau of Motor Vehicles and student at the Ohio University, Chillicothe Branch, Ms. Perdion has been active in all phases of theater and won the Ortha Stambaugh award for her outstanding service to the club in 1972. In addition to her work for RP, Janice has appeared in an Episcopal Chancel Drama, "Construction" several times.

Gary Vermillion of Chillicothe is a 7th grade English teacher appearing in his second major role for RP. Last season he portrayed James Keller in "Miracle Worker", and worked backstage as Props Chairman during "Come Blow Your Horn". With an extensive background in theater, Gary has appeared in Columbus Players' Club, Chillicothe Civic Theater and Ohio Valley Summer Theater productions.

The thirty-one member cast for the Lerner and Lowe musical directed by Jim Dippel of Grove City is entering its final full week of rehearsal before opening November 6, 8:30 p.m. at Memorial Hall Theater.

6 Injured In Weekend Accidents

Pickaway County Sheriff's Deputies investigated three auto accidents, in what could be described as a pretty quiet weekend.

Four persons were treated and released at Berger Hospital for injuries sustained in a two-car accident, 4:45 p.m. Saturday on State Route 674. Elmer M. Spears, 39, Columbus, was southbound on 674 approaching the Royalton Road intersection, when a westbound vehicle, driven by Edward L. Bastian, 53, Lancaster, pulled into the path of Spears' auto.

Spears' auto struck the Bastian vehicle in the side.

Passengers in the Spears vehicle treated for injuries were: Marjorie A. Craig, 46, Columbus, contusions and lacerations to the face and possible fractured leg; Carol L. Craig, 13, facial bruises; Pamela S. Craig, 14, bruises to the mouth and left knee. Spears was also treated for contusions and lacerations to the leg and forehead.

Deputy James Fite cited Bastian for failure to yield the right of way.

Thirty-four-year-old Harley Flannery, of Route 1, Orient refused treatment for a minor leg injury when he was involved in a single-car accident, 6:10 p.m. Saturday.

Flannery failed to negotiate a curve on the Circleville-Harrisburg Road and traveled off the right berm of the roadway. Flannery applied his brakes which caused the auto to swerve off the left side of the roadway and came to rest against a tree.

Deputy Larry Kellenberger investigated the report.

Eleven-year-old Columbus youth, Richard G. Furniss, was taken to Children's Hospital in Columbus for injuries he sustained 3:30 p.m. Sunday when he ran into a car operated by Deborah M. Zastrow, 24, Chillicothe.

Ms. Zastrow was traveling north on Township Road 525 when she noticed two youths playing in the road. She swerved to miss the children when Furniss ran into the car.

Deputy James Fite investigated the report.

Wendy Yoshimura 'Mysterious'

Editors Note: Perhaps the most mysterious character in the complex Patty Hearst story has been Wendy Yoshimura — artist, feminist, fugitive and now prisoner. AP writer Linda Deutsch is the first reporter to interview Wendy since she was arrested with Patty Hearst.

By LINDA DEUTSCH
Associated Press Writer
PLEASANTON, Calif. (AP) — When she was in school it seemed nobody knew she was there. Things haven't changed much for Wendy Yoshimura even after her arrest with roommate Patty Hearst.

Virtually all the attention has been focused on Miss Hearst and her fellow Symbionese Liberation Army comrades, William and Emily Harris.

Some of Wendy's isolation has been thrust upon her. She is kept in isolation, forbidden to leave her cell even for meals. She laughs lightly when told that Patty has dining room privileges and mingles with other prisoners every day. "I read about that. She gets out for a whole hour!"

Wendy, 32, said in her first jailhouse interview that if someone asks for her on visiting days, she is brought to the general visiting room but kept alone at a corner table while other inmates sit at a communal visiting area.

Arrested with Patty at a San Francisco apartment Sept. 18, she is in the Alameda County Jail, 35 miles southwest of San Francisco, awaiting trial on explosives and weapons charges unrelated to the Hearst case. Patty is at San Mateo County Jail in Redwood City, Calif., awaiting trial on federal bank robbery charges.

Since her arrest, after three years as a fugitive, Wendy says she is receiving warm support from other Japanese-Americans, many from her home town of Fresno, Calif.

She didn't elaborate on her goals for society during the interview.

She was pale but cheerful, smiling and gesturing animatedly as she talked. "I love art," she said, turning to her favorite subject. "I would like to show through art the changes that are happening in society. I would like to show visions of what life really is."

An artist who once aimed to work in graphics and commercial illustration, Wendy said she never stopped drawing — not even during her three years in the underground. "I've been doing water colors and drawings. I don't know where my work is now. The FBI has some of it — my work from school. It was in a portfolio."

The only daughter of Fresno gardeners Frank and Fumiye Yoshimura,

Wendy was born in a California detention camp for Japanese during World War II. After their release, the Yoshimura family moved to Hiroshima, Japan. They lived there for 10 years, returning to California when Wendy was 13.

Authorities say their interest in her began after she vanished from the Oakland area in 1972. A friend, William Brandt, and two other men were arrested at a Berkeley garage filled with explosives. They entered guilty pleas to weapons and explosives charges.

Brandt, a student war protestor who had gone to Cuba with Wendy in the 1960s in the Second Venceremos Brigade to help harvest the Cuban sugar cane crop, still is serving a one-to-15-year sentence at Soledad Prison.

The two other defendants have been released.

A witness said Wendy rented the garage. A grand jury transcript says she legally purchased a gun found in the garage.

Reagan Expected To Run In Ohio

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Conservative Republicans backing a presidential bid by former California Gov. Ronald Reagan are "fairly positive" he will enter the race and include Ohio's 1976 primary as part of the effort.

Rep. William G. Batchelder, R-93 Medina, one of five state legislators who met in Washington with Reagan aides "by sort of mutual agreement," said they came away believing Reagan will make a bid for the presidency.

Batchelder and Rep. Robert E. Netzeley, R-81 Laura, had their previously unpublicized meeting in Washington with Lyn Nofziger, a Reagan staffer who served as his press secretary in California.

Others who attended the meeting were Sen. Donald E. "Buz" Lukens, R-4 Middletown, and Reps. Donna Pope, R-12 Parma, and Irma Karmol, R-44 Toledo.

Lukens, a former congressman and presidential campaign worker in 1964 for Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz, was not available for comment over the weekend due to the death of his father. He has been an outspoken Reagan supporter for some time.

Mrs. Karmol said she is "undecided" between Reagan and President Ford, and wants to avoid a split in the party, but feels the American people "want someone they can believe in again...I've admired Ronald Reagan for a long time." But she added she thinks Ford "has done a pretty good job."

Batchelder and Netzeley said they are disenchanted with Ford's record, although Netzeley said he is "still watching." Both were downright hostile toward Vice President Nelson Rockefeller, with Batchelder blaming him for "the bankruptcy of New York State and New York City, with some help from (former New York Mayor) John Lindsay."

Netzeley said that while he doesn't know how much support there might be in Ohio for Reagan "there's definitely a movement." Batchelder said he is convinced the support is "fairly widespread" even though it might be regarded in some party circles as "rocking the boat." Democrats, he said, "are always rocking the boat, and increasing in numbers."

'Brigadoon' Combines Both Comedy, Romance

LEAD ROLES — Gary Vermillion portraying Jeff Douglas looks perplexed by the amorous advances of Scottish lassie Meg Brockie, played by Janice Perdion, in this scene from a RP rehearsal of "Brigadoon". Tickets for the Nov. 6-9 and 13-15 musical are now on sale outside the theater entrance at Memorial Hall and may also be reserved by dialing 474-5856 Monday through Saturday from 10:30 a.m. - 6:00 p.m. and until 8 p.m. on Fridays.

A bit of comedy is added to the romance of Roundtown Players' musical production "Brigadoon" in the characters of Meg Brockie, played by Janice Perdion and Jeff Douglas, portrayed by Gary Vermillion.

Ms. Perdion, who won an audience appreciation award for her starring role two seasons ago in the murder mystery "Mousetrap", is appearing in her first singing role as the town siren whose advances toward Vermillion, portraying an American tourist are less than subtle.

An employee of the Ohio State Bureau of Motor Vehicles and student at the Ohio University, Chillicothe Branch, Ms. Perdion has been active in all phases of theater and won the Ortha Stambaugh award for her outstanding service to the club in 1972. In addition to her work for RP, Janice has appeared in an Episcopal Chancel Drama, "Construction" several times.

Gary Vermillion of Chillicothe is a 7th grade English teacher appearing in his second major role for RP last season he portrayed James Keller in "Miracle Worker", and worked backstage as Props Chairman during "Come Blow Your Horn". With an extensive background in theater, Gary has appeared in Columbus Players' Club, Chillicothe Civic Theater and Ohio Valley Summer Theater productions.

The thirty-one member cast for the Lerner and Lowe musical directed by Jim Dippel of Grove City is entering its final full week of rehearsal before opening November 6, 8:30 p.m. at Memorial Hall Theater.

6 Injured In Weekend Accidents

Pickaway County Sheriff's Deputies investigated three auto accidents, in what could be described as a pretty quiet weekend.

Four persons were treated and released at Berger Hospital for injuries sustained in a two-car accident, 4:45 p.m. Saturday on State Route 674.

Elmer M. Spears, 39, Columbus, was southbound on 674 approaching the Royalton Road intersection, when a westbound vehicle, driven by Edward L. Bastian, 53, Lancaster, pulled into the path of Spears' auto.

Spears' auto struck the Bastian vehicle in the side.

Passengers in the Spears vehicle treated for injuries were: Marjorie A. Craig, 46, Columbus, contusions and lacerations to the face and possible fractured leg; Carol L. Craig, 13, facial bruises; Pamela S. Craig, 14, bruises to the mouth and left knee. Spears was also treated for contusions and lacerations to the leg and forehead.

Deputy James Fite cited Bastian for failure to yield the right of way.

Thirty-four-year-old Harley Flannery, of Route 1, Orient refused treatment for a minor leg injury when he was involved in a single-car accident, 6:10 p.m. Saturday.

Flannery failed to negotiate a curve on the Circleville-Harrisburg Road and traveled off the right berm of the roadway. Flannery applied his brakes which caused the auto to swerve off the left side of the roadway and came to rest against a tree.

Deputy Larry Kellenberger investigated the report.

Eleven-year-old Columbus youth, Richard G. Furniss, was taken to Children's Hospital in Columbus for injuries he sustained 3:30 p.m. Sunday when he ran into a car operated by Deborah M. Zastrow, 24, Chillicothe.

Ms. Zastrow was traveling north on Township Road 525 when she noticed two youths playing in the road. She swerved to miss the children when Furniss ran into the car.

Deputy James Fite investigated the report.

Wendy Yoshimura 'Mysterious'

Editors Note: Perhaps the most mysterious character in the complex Patty Hearst story has been Wendy Yoshimura — artist, feminist, fugitive and now prisoner. AP writer Linda Deutsch is the first reporter to interview Wendy since she was arrested with Patty Hearst.

By LINDA DEUTSCH
Associated Press Writer
PLEASANTON, Calif. (AP) — When she was in school it seemed nobody knew she was there. Things haven't changed much for Wendy Yoshimura even after her arrest with roommate Patty Hearst.

Virtually all the attention has been focused on Miss Hearst and her fellow Symbionese Liberation Army comrades, William and Emily Harris.

Some of Wendy's isolation has been thrust upon her. She is kept in isolation, forbidden to leave her cell even for meals. She laughs lightly when told that Patty has dining room privileges and mingles with other prisoners every day. "I read about that. She gets out for a whole hour!"

Wendy, 32, said in her first jailhouse interview that if someone asks for her on visiting days, she is brought to the general visiting room but kept alone at a corner table while other inmates sit at a communal visiting area.

Arrested with Patty at a San Francisco apartment Sept. 18, she is in the Alameda County Jail, 35 miles southwest of San Francisco, awaiting trial on explosives and weapons charges unrelated to the Hearst case. Patty is at San Mateo County Jail in Redwood City, Calif., awaiting trial on federal bank robbery charges.

Since her arrest, after three years as a fugitive, Wendy says she is receiving warm support from other Japanese-Americans, many from her home town of Fresno, Calif.

She didn't elaborate on her goals for society during the interview.

She was pale but cheerful, smiling and gesturing animatedly as she talked. "I love art," she said, turning to her favorite subject. "I would like to show through art the changes that are happening in society. I would like to show visions of what life really is."

An artist who once aimed to work in graphics and commercial illustration, Wendy said she never stopped drawing — not even during her three years in the underground. "I've been doing water colors and drawings. I don't know where my work is now. The FBI has some of it — my work from school. It was in a portfolio."

The only daughter of Fresno gardeners Frank and Fumiye Yoshimura,

Wendy was born in a California detention camp for Japanese during World War II. After their release, the Yoshimura family moved to Hiroshima, Japan. They lived there for 10 years, returning to California when Wendy was 13.

Authorities say their interest in her began after she vanished from the Oakland area in 1972. A friend, William Brandt, and two other men were arrested at a Berkeley garage filled with explosives. They entered guilty pleas to weapons and explosives charges.

Brandt, a student war protestor who had gone to Cuba with Wendy in the 1960s in the Second Venceremos Brigade to help harvest the Cuban sugar cane crop, still is serving a one-to-five-year sentence at Soledad Prison.

The two other defendants have been released.

A witness said Wendy rented the garage. A grand jury transcript says she legally purchased a gun found in the garage.

Reagan Expected To Run In Ohio

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Conservative Republicans backing a presidential bid by former California Gov. Ronald Reagan are "fairly positive" he will enter the race and include Ohio's 1976 primary as part of the effort.

Rep. William G. Batchelder, R-93 Medina, one of five state legislators who met in Washington with Reagan aides "by sort of mutual agreement," said they came away believing Reagan will make a bid for the presidency.

Batchelder and Rep. Robert E. Netzley, R-81 Laura, had their previously unpublicized meeting in Washington with Lyn Nofziger, a Reagan staffer who served as his press secretary in California.

Others who attended the meeting were Sen. Donald E. "Buz" Lukens, R-4 Middletown, and Reps. Donna Pope, R-12 Parma, and Irma Karmol, R-44 Toledo.

Lukens, a former congressman and presidential campaign worker in 1964 for Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz, was not available for comment over the weekend due to the death of his father. He has been an outspoken Reagan supporter for some time.

Mrs. Karmol said she is "undecided" between Reagan and President Ford, and wants to avoid a split in the party, but feels the American people "want someone they can believe in again...I've admired Ronald Reagan for a long time." But she added she thinks Ford "has done a pretty good job."

Batchelder and Netzley said they are disenchanted with Ford's record, although Netzley said he is "still watching." Both were downright hostile toward Vice President Nelson Rockefeller, with Batchelder blaming him for "the bankruptcy of New York State and New York City, with some help from (former New York Mayor) John Lindsay."

Netzley said that while he doesn't know how much support there might be in Ohio for Reagan "there's definitely a movement." Batchelder said he is convinced the support is "fairly widespread" even though it might be regarded in some party circles as "rocking the boat." Democrats, he said, "are always rocking the boat, and increasing in numbers."

Fund Drive Kicked Off

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — The importance of preserving independent education in this country was stressed by Dr. John Sawhill, president of New York University, at a dinner Saturday night to kick off a $3.3 million fund-raising drive for Antioch College in nearby Yellow Springs.

Sawhill, former federal energy chief, said private colleges should be supported to assure that American higher education is philosophically varied, to insure that it is responsive to individual needs, and to insure that it maintains the creativity and vitality "necessary to the American way of life."

Sawhill said the outstanding characteristics of private colleges and universities are "autonomy, flexibility, leadership and concern for the individual."

"The maintenance of private higher education is important not just to Antioch as a single institution, but also to the arrangement of checks and balances that prevents the nation's educational enterprises from becoming a monolithic and politically controlled system," he said.

Funk & Wagnalls sells their encyclopedias direct through supermarkets instead of through door-to-door salesmen working on commission. So there's no high commission to pay and no high pressure sales pitch.
The best way to get information is to go to the source.
And that's exactly what Funk & Wagnalls has been doing since 1876, when they began publishing reference books.
Funk & Wagnalls has utilized hundreds of consultants and contributors who helped put together the Centennial Edition of Funk & Wagnalls New Encyclopedia.
Each one is a recognized authority in his, or her, field of knowledge. And several have Nobel and Pulitzer prizes to their credit.
Their contributions make Funk & Wagnalls New Encyclopedia a comprehensive, accurate, home reference center with over 193,000 indexed subjects (that's as many as encyclopedias costing hundreds of dollars more.)

Introducing the Centennial Edition
of
Funk & Wagnalls
New Encyclopedia

STILL

AND SAVE.

Funk & Wagnalls sells their encyclopedias direct through supermarkets instead of through door-to-door salesmen working on commission. So there's no high commission to pay and no high pressure sales pitch.

The best way to get information is to go to the source.

And that's exactly what Funk & Wagnalls has been doing since 1876, when they began publishing reference books.

Funk & Wagnalls has utilized hundreds of consultants & contributors who helped put together the Centennial Edition of Funk & Wagnalls New Encyclopedia.

Each one is a recognized authority in his, or her, field of knowledge. And several have Nobel and Pulitzer prizes to their credit.

Their contributions make Funk & Wagnalls New Encyclopedia a comprehensive, accurate, home reference center with over 193,000 indexed subjects (that's as many as encyclopedias costing hundreds of dollars more.)

You just pick up Volume One at the special introductory price of $4.99 and let it convince you to buy the rest of the set a volume or two a week. That way you find out if it's the right encyclopedia for your family before you buy the whole set.

And because supermarkets can sell in great volume, Funk & Wagnalls can afford to charge less per volume. So you save.

Stop by the Funk & Wagnalls display in any of our supermarkets and pick up Vol. 1. It's one of the smartest purchases you can make these days.
